Welcome aboard, ladies and gentlemen. We're just setting off. -You what?

Have I really been doing this for 100 years?

MUNI

That's too hard for our students

They never did that at school

We must give them more time

Our students don't like talking

English is free credits

They are not used to it

You have to tell them what will be in the exam

They are not ready

University should be like school,
you say?
I see...

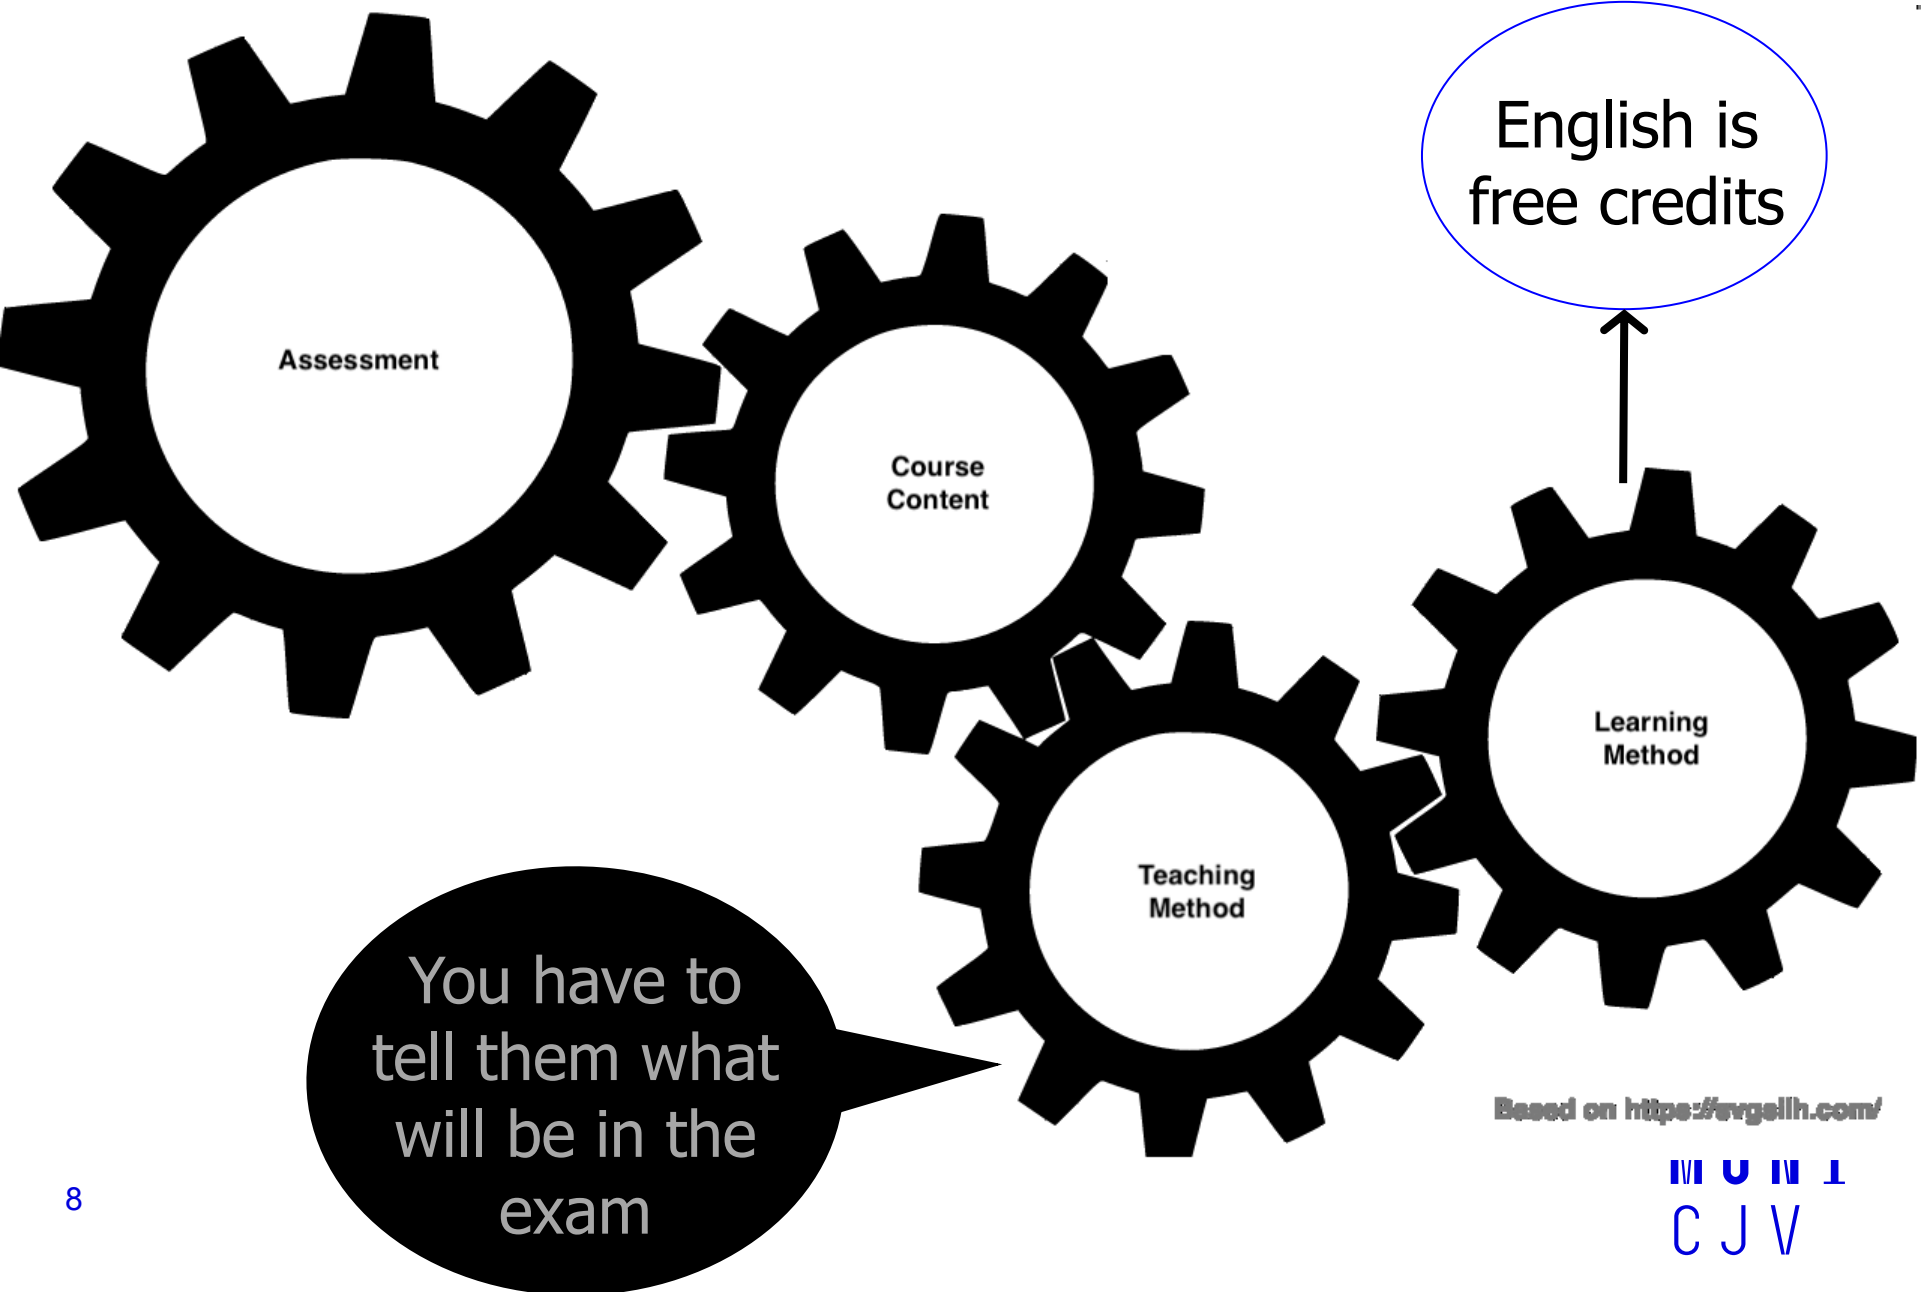

Examination
assessment

Anti-education attitude

English is free credits

You have to tell them what will be in the exam

Examination drives everything...

No, DON'T!
There IS a better
way. Trust me.

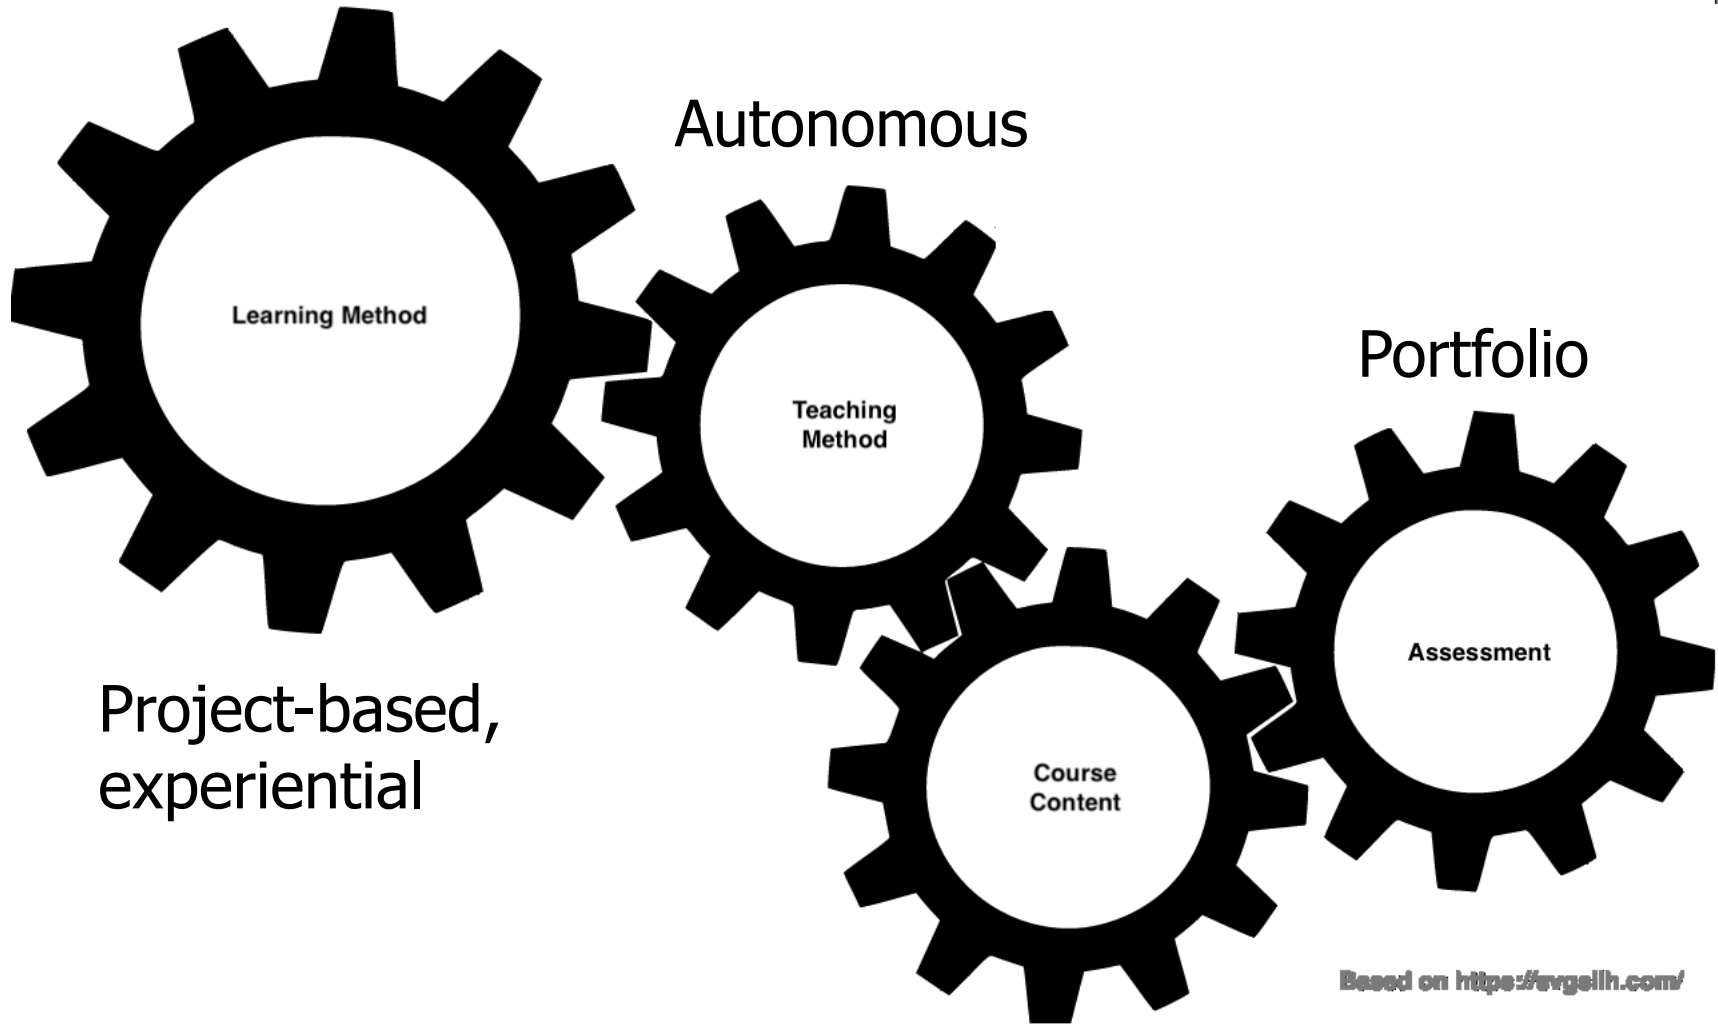

Oh, dear...

Stay with me,
the rest of you. The best is yet to come.

Learning drives everything...

Based on <http://evgsllh.com/>

THAT WILL NEVER WORK!!!!!!

STUDENTS WILL GET THEIR FRIENDS TO DO THEIR WORK FOR THEM!!!!!!

WHAT ABOUT VOCABULARY?

THEY DON'T KNOW THE TERMINOLOGY IN ENGLISH

WHAT IF THEY FAIL THEIR PORTFOLIO?

HOW MANY RESITS DO THEY GET?

Enough!
This way.
Please!

I'm in love with everybody

Good days

OK days

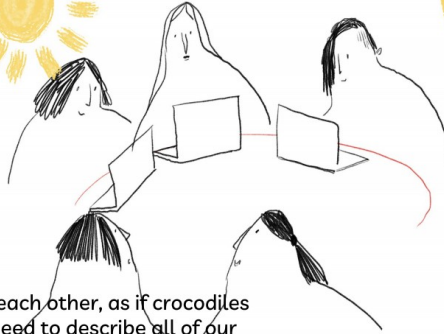

Bad days

Just let me die, please

How that terrible,

We sit on chairs, clinging to each other, as if crocodiles are swimming near us. We need to describe all of our strange and mysterious journeys. We look for ideas in our brains, try to get to know each other better, communicate in person, by phone and over the Internet. Our brain and creativity work constantly. We feel that the end is approaching, and responsibility oppresses us. But perhaps we will create something beautiful and we will remember it for many years.

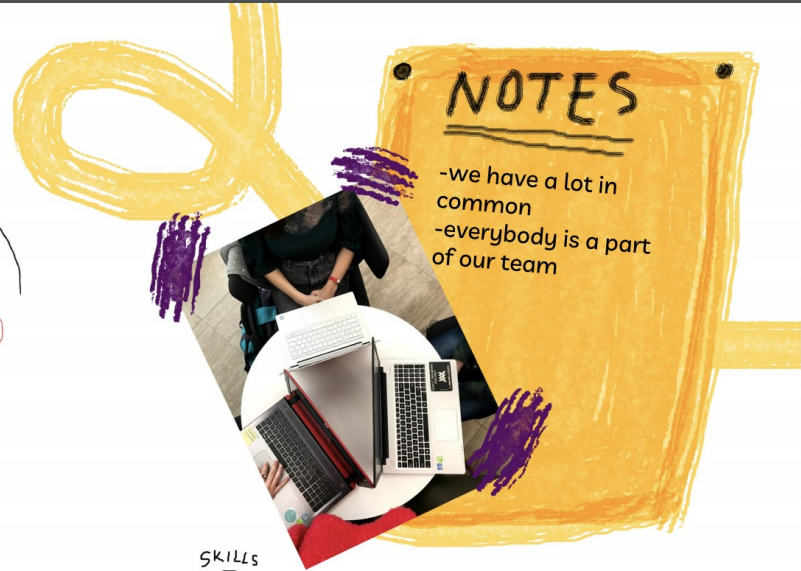

IMPRESSIONS

Worries and fear about the result, difficulties with making decisions, we have not lack of creativity, but our ideas are hard to make real in design program. Easily define roles and responsibilities and find common language. Difficulties with explaining each learning progress without repeating.

I was on my way back from Cracow to Brno and I was really curious about our common book. The next week I found out we have more things in common than I had thought before, great. I could do some piece of work even in spite of my missing creativity. I could feel as a part of a team.

NOTES

- we have a lot in common
- everybody is a part of our team

SKILLS

Teamwork, critical, creative and technical

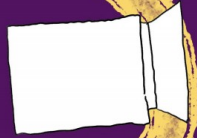

A lot of thoughts, a feeling of total chaos, which we are trying to put in order.

Worries but not too much! Just a little bit attention and responsibility. And for sure I would never done this kind of project alone. It's too big! So many ideas and they are brilliant!

Like teamworks so I am exited about final project. But this is not end of our journey.

I go through it! I am feeling myself free. Because I like to work with Canva, but I am not designer, I've never used photoshop as well. Now I am creator and the final results is depends on me.

Eventually I have to do design part of project. I like creative activy but I have so little time for it. I will sleep little...

I was using my English (and my Polish) during my bus journey to help some other people. I was not shy, just knew I had to speak. And I made a progress from the beginning of the semester till today, now I can see it clearly.

NOTES

- Record yourself speak and then listen to the results
- Big path from the beginning of the semester till today

I have not just fear but joy, since we have been given total freedom. But freedom means responsibility. During the course we tried to understand ourselves with the help of reflections, it was a very interesting experience. Teamwork was difficult but rewarding. Thanks for the wonderful journey!

Wasn't very effective week for my English learning. I was reading a lot, but just Slavic literature (Czech and Ukrainian ones), some historical things about Balkan local people. I played computer game and found it useful for my English learning - good excuse for wasting some free time, quite enough to persuade myself not to stop.

To Portfolio... and beyond!
