Innovator Café

Scientist Turned Entrepreneur

Experiences and Lessons-learned

08 September 2021 | 16 to 17 (CET) | Online
Webinar

Dr. Chris Rehse

Chris Rehse has founded several start-ups in the medical field and has broad experience in enabling translational research and innovating science transfer. He is an entrepreneur who is driven by curiosity and has a passion for connecting science and economics to develop novel strategies for the application of digital health tech solutions. His current company, neotiv, develops innovative cognitive tests embedded in a digital platform for Smartphone and Tablets to enable diagnosis and screening of Alzheimer's disease. This science-transfer solution builds the gateway to prevention and intervention of one of the leading diseases of the 21st century.

In this SPARK Europe Innovator Café, Chris will be interviewed by Prof. Craig Garner (SPARK Berlin co-founder) and share his personal experience of the transition from a scientist turning into an entrepreneur.

Online via GoToMeeting | Please register here.
