

SPARK EUROPE WEBINAR SERIES 2021

SPARK Europe
Innovator Café

Scientist Turned Entrepreneur Experiences and Lessons-learned

29 September 2021 | 17 to 18 (CET) | Online Webinar

Prof. Dr. Daria Mochly-Rosen

Daria is a Professor of Chemical and Systems Biology at Stanford University where she leads multi-disciplinary research on molecular mechanisms of diseases. She has published more than 290 papers and holds over 50 patents. She has founded three biotech companies, including KAI Pharmaceuticals (acquired by Amgen) and her research lead to drug discovery and several clinical trials. Her experience in translating basic research to drug development led her to establish SPARK GLOBAL with currently 70 institutions on all continents.

In this SPARK Europe Innovator Café, Daria will share her personal experience as a scientist turned entrepreneur and give insights on valuable lessons learned, pitfalls she met along the way and how her entrepreneurial endeavors influence her scientific research. Feel free to ask your own questions during the interview.
