Part One

Background and objectives of the regulation

The Faculty of Arts of Masaryk University is aware of the need for close cooperation between universities, primary and secondary schools, which is an important prerequisite for the high-quality education of future teachers, the support of exceptionally talented secondary school students, and the implementation of lifelong learning projects for teachers based on practice. If the education and training of teachers (faculty graduates) is to really be the best, it is necessary that, during their studies, students complete teaching practice in selected schools or other educational institutions which guarantee the comprehensive and high-quality teaching of courses in the specializations studied at the Faculty of Arts of Masaryk University.

Therefore, the Faculty of Arts will confer the designation "faculty school of the Faculty of Arts of Masaryk University" to selected exceptionally high-quality primary schools, secondary schools, or educational institutions.
