Business letters:

Your seminar work for this semester involves writing up and handing in two business letters. The deadline for handing in the letters is Thursday, April 9, 2009. To meet the requirements, you have to follow these guidelines:

• first, you have to find another classmate to make a pair because you will be cooperating on the business letters;

• the letters are intended to be correspondence between two business partners (i.e. you and your classmate) in the following way: one of you sends a letter → the other person replies to it → the first one reacts to the reply → the other person replies to the reply;

• the concrete topics of the letters is up to you but they have to be relevant, i.e. they have to relate to your business activities (that you choose to perform) – e.g. a business partner’s complaint about badly performed work/services or a reaction to a supplier’s offer or a bid from a competing company for cooperation or a letter from a state authority because of your breaking rules/norms or a claim for a refund because of low-quality goods/services you delivered, etc.

• each of the letters should consists of at least 4 paragraphs plus formalities (i.e. addresses, date, salutation, subject of the letter, closing sentence, your name, position within the company and signature);

• don’t forget to include your name and učo number;

• hand in your letters as a pair (i.e. 4 letters together) and mark each letter with an appropriate number according to the logical sequence (first letter = 1, following letter = 2, next letter = 3, final letter = 4);

• hand in your letters in time (within the deadline), in the required extent and in a printed form.

Model business letters as well as additional information on how to write a proper and good business letter are available in a booklet called Intelligent Business: Style guide (it is a supplement to your Intelligent Business textbook) on pages 16 – 19. Use this source as a useful way of drawing inspiration for your own seminar work.

Tips and examples (copied from the Style guide, page 16):

Formal business correspondence is usually done by letter as this leaves a written record which can be kept for reference. Business letters can be of different types with different purposes: to apply for a job, to inform people of developments, to request action, to make an enquiry, to complain, etc. To write a successful business letter you need to use the right tone and to communicate your message to the reader using straightforward language. The way a letter is written reveals a lot about the person who is writing it and it also sends a message about the organisation that he or she is working for. It is, therefore, very important to make sure that the information, layout, style and spelling are all correct before you send it.

• Language styles

Business letters are usually quite formal in style. A conversational style is therefore not appropriate and you should avoid contractions, for example. Try to use verbs in the active and not in the passive form as this will make your letter more dynamic. You should also avoid writing sentences that are too long and that include complicated or unnecessary language. A straightforward letter will get your message across more effectively than a long wordy one. There are certain conventions concerning the correct way to address people and to close your letter.
• Opening

Letters always start with Dear ... followed by the correct form of address. If the letter is going to someone whose name you do not know, it starts with Dear Sir, or Dear Madam, or Dear Sir or Madam, ... . But if you do know the name, then you can begin with Dear Mr/Ms Taylor, or Dear Greg Taylor, ... .

• Closing

Letters are usually closed in standard ways. At the end of your letter you should include a short sentence like I look forward to hearing from you or Please do not hesitate to contact me if you need further information. Below that, you should put a closing phrase:

- Yours sincerely, (formal, for letters beginning Dear + name)
- Yours faithfully, (formal, for letters beginning Dear Sir*/Madam*)
- Yours truly, / Best regards, / Best wishes, (less formal)

• Useful phrases and notations

Following our recent telephone conversation ...
I am writing to you to confirm ...
Thank you for taking the time to ...
Regarding the question of ...
I think you will agree that ...
We are sorry for any inconvenience caused.
I am enclosing full contact details.

enc (shows that something is enclosed), cc (copy sent to another person), PS (for additional sentence(s) included after the signature)

• Layout

When writing a business letter, you should follow the standard format. The letter opposite shows where the following different components should appear on the page.

- a letterhead / address (but not name) of writer
- b name and address of recipient
- c references
- d date
- e opening
- f subject heading
- g body of the letter
- h closing
- i signature
- j name and job title
- k enclosures

   5. What is the main reason for this situation?
      ______________________________________________________________
Adjectives and adverbs

Form of adverbs

- Many ‘how’ adverbs are formed by adding -ly to an adjective. A few add -y, -ally, or -ily, depending on the spelling of the original adjective.

slow – slowly slight – slightly careful – carefully full – fully dramatic – dramatically steady – steadily

- Some adverbs and adjectives have the same form. Examples include fast, hard, early, late, high, low, right, wrong, daily/weekly/monthly/quarterly.

This is a fast machine. (adj.) This machine goes very fast. (adv.)
It's a hard decision. (adj.) He's working very hard at the moment. (adv.)

- Note that the adverb hardly is not related to the meaning of hard.

It’s so noisy I can hardly think. (‘hardly’ = almost not)

- Note that good is an adjective and well is an adverb.

She’s a good negotiator. She negotiates well.

Adjectives ending -ing and -ed

- Adjectives ending -ing describe something we are reacting to (outside us).
- Adjectives ending -ed describe our feelings and reactions (inside us).

The meeting was very interesting. I was interested in your idea about outsourcing.

Asia Online president Kevin Randolph says he does not concentrate on the number of customers because he is not really interested in mass marketing. ‘I am interested in quality marketing,’ Randolph says. ‘We have 100,000 customers, which is an interesting number, but I am not managing the business based on that.’ (business review weekly website)

Other pairs like this are: bored/boring, confused/confusing, excited/exciting, fascinated/fascinating, surprised/surprising, tired/tiring

I found her comments quite surprising. I was surprised by her comments.

Compare adjectives ending in -ing and -ed:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>You can say:</th>
<th>You can say:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>boring.</td>
<td>bored with my job.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interesting.</td>
<td>I'm not interested in my job any more.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tiring.</td>
<td>I'm always tired when I finish work.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>satisfying.</td>
<td>I'm not satisfied with my job.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>depressing.</td>
<td>My job makes me depressed.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(etc.)</td>
<td>(etc.)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The -ing adjective tells you about the job.

Compare these examples:

interesting
- Julia thinks politics is very interesting.
- Did you meet anyone interesting at the party?

surprising
- It was quite surprising that he passed the examination.

disappointing
- The film was disappointing. I expected it to be much better.

shocking
- The news was shocking.

You can say:
- I’m bored with my job.
- I’m not interested in my job any more.
- I’m always tired when I finish work.
- I’m not satisfied with my job.
- My job makes me depressed.

The -ed adjective tells you how somebody feels (about the job).

interested
- Julia is very interested in politics.

(not ‘interesting in politics’)
- Are you interested in buying a car? I’m trying to sell mine.

surprised
- Everybody was surprised that he passed the examination.

disappointed
- I was disappointed with the film. I expected it to be much better.

shocked
- We were very shocked when we heard the news.
Look at these examples:

- Our holiday was too short – the time went very quickly.
- The driver of the car was seriously injured in the accident.

Quickly and seriously are adverbs. Many adverbs are made from an adjective + -ly:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>adjective</th>
<th>adverb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>quick</td>
<td>quickly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>serious</td>
<td>seriously</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>careful</td>
<td>carefully</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>quiet</td>
<td>quietly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>heavy</td>
<td>heavily</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bad</td>
<td>badly</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Not all words ending in -ly are adverbs. Some adjectives end in -ly too, for example:

- friendly
- lively
- elderly
- lonely
- silly
- lovely

Fast / hard / late

These words are both adjectives and adverbs:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>adjective</th>
<th>adverb</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Jack</td>
<td>can</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ann</td>
<td>works</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The train</td>
<td>got</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>up</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Lately = ‘recently’

- Have you seen Tom lately?

We use adjectives after be / get / become / seem:

- Be careful!
- I’m tired and I’m getting hungry.
- As the film went on, it became more and more boring.
- Your friend seems very nice.

We also use adjectives to say how somebody/something looks, feels, sounds, tastes or smells:

- You look tired. / I feel tired. / She sounds tired.
- The dinner smells good.
- This tea tastes a bit strange.

But to say how somebody does something you must use an adverb:

- Drive carefully! (not ‘Drive careful’)
- Susan plays the piano very well. (not ‘plays ... very good’)

8. I arrived at the presentation ________________________________ and missed the first part.

8. Read this report about the convergence of mobile phones and handheld computers. Underline either the adjective or adverb each time.

   It seems (1) strange/strangely, but some people are walking around with a mobile phone, a handheld computer like a Palm, a pager, and even a notebook computer with a (2) conventional/conventionally keyboard as well. These digital devices are converging (3) rapid/rapidly, but manufacturers are finding it difficult to get all the parts to integrate (4) proper/properly. Contemporary mobile phones look (5) good/well, are relatively (6) good/well at sending short text messages, but don’t work (7) good/well as handheld computers. They lack memory, synchronize (8) bad/badly with desktop PCs, and aren’t (9) easy/easily to use for writing emails. Searching for an address-book entry or scrolling through a contact list is (10) slow/slowly, although once you find the name you can call the person (11) direct/directly by just touching the phone number. Of course the big issue in the future is Internet access – it needs to be fast, (12) easy/easily and (13) cheap/cheaply, but still allow phone companies to make a profit. Things are moving very (14) quick/quickly in this area, and the manufacturers who succeed in getting everything (15) right/rightly are going to make (16) huge/hugely profits.

Fill in the missing words in their correct form in the interview summary:

Bradley Hopper was interested in textiles and therefore he decided to invest his money in this business. At first, he wanted to get into the (1) ________________ (2) ________________ but later he abandoned this idea and became an investor. As the interviewer points out, this investment has (3) ________________ (4) ________________ since the (5) ________________ accounts for approximately a hundred million dollars. As far as Bradley is concerned, his first (6) ________________ is making money, and that is the (7) ________________ to his (8) ________________. Nevertheless, he cannot relax as he has to keep (9) ________________ himself and hope to get (10) ________________ by the best (11) ________________ (12) ________________. His competitors are (13) ________________ (14) ________________ because the market is very (15) _________________. In the future, he plans to (16) ________________ their first (17) ________________ (18) ________________ (19) ________________ – a T-shirt made from (20) ________________ (21) ________________ (22) ________________ that has been 100% grown in the USA. Bradley thinks that the market for (23) ________________ (24) ________________ products is (25) ________________. However, he is thinking about becoming a (26) ________________ (27) ________________, or rather a (28) ________________ (29) ________________. What he wants is the (30) ________________ at the beginning of a (31) ________________, but he is also interested in the (32) ________________ part.
Fill in the missing words in their correct form in the interview summary:

ART’s main activity is providing (1) ____________________ at (2) _________________.
(3) ____________________ to small businesses that have problems with finding funding from (4) ____________________ sources. The condition is that their business plans have to be (5) ____________________. This model has been (6) ____________________ by even other institution since it (7) ____________________ in 1997. However, their model for
(8) ____________________ could not have been implemented without (9) _________________.
Information and support. It isn’t easy to (10) ____________________ one’s own business and entrepreneurs may feel (11) ____________________ in case they decide to ask for assistance. As far as Steve is concerned, he has directors (12) ____________________ to (13) ________________ him and he knows he can ask them for (14) _________________.

He also gives advice to businesspeople by claiming that being open to new ideas provides them with a different (15) ________________ and they are thus able to see their situation from a different (16) ________________, which produces (17) ________________ the best results.

ART cooperates with various types of (18) ________________ that may be, for example,
(19) _________________. Unlike a bank that lends money to (20) ________________,
(21) ________________, ART’s (22) ________________ is to (23) ________________ companies to (24) ________________ and help the (25) ________________ succeed.

Nevertheless, Steve made even a bad decision during the early (26) ________________ of ART: he planned to have 50,000 (27) ________________ printed up to
(28) ________________ their services. He wanted to (29) ________________
10,000 of them by (30) ________________ them into a magazine that goes out to the
(31) ________________ homes in the area. Unfortunately, he didn’t (32) ________________ a single (33) ________________ from the (34) ________________. Later he learned that this wasn’t the correct way to (35) ________________ a new concept and he has started to see what other (36) ________________ are (37) _________________. If he had (38) ________________ advice from people who are more (39) ________________ he could have (40) ________________ the situation better. So he says that his worst decision (41) ________________ (42) ________________ with his best decision.

Steve also says that it’s a bad thing to close yourself (43) ________________ to new ideas. Businesspeople should not be afraid to ask for help and take advice
(44) ________________ (45) ________________ because this will be not only
(46) ________________ for the business, but also for themselves.
In the text find words or expressions corresponding to the following definitions:

1. _________________ = an adjective referring to a person who makes money by starting or running businesses, especially when this involves taking financial risks

2. to _________________ = to explode; to come open or fly apart suddenly or violently, especially from internal pressure

3. _________________ = a metaphor used to describe overoptimistic and exaggerated expectations in relation to internet companies’ shares

4. _________________ = a newly founded company

5. _________________ = newly started business operations

6. _________________ = a number of people or things taken from a larger group using a process in which each person or thing has an equal chance of being chosen

7. to _________________ = to investigate the opinions or behavior of a group of people by asking them a series of questions
Developing an argument

Words meaning and, but and so

- Words like and, but and so are usually used to join parts of sentences. We can use longer words and phrases with the same meaning to link both across sentences and within more complex sentences.

  - and: In addition, Besides, Moreover, Furthermore
  - but: However, Nevertheless, On the other hand
  - so: Therefore, Consequently, As a result

These words and phrases are typical of formal speech (for example presentations) and writing. They usually come at the start of a sentence and have a comma afterwards, but can come after a comma in the middle of a sentence.

Supplier A is cheaper, and their delivery times are good. However, supplier B has better quality products and they have a good reputation in the market.

This new process produces less waste, and as a result it’s much better for the environment.

Our stocks are moving in a downwards spiral, therefore the Fed must cut interest rates to boost our confidence. That, at least, is the theory among investors this week. (Forbes.com website)

Examples: for example, for instance, such as

- We can use for example or for instance. Note the possible positions.

  - Our costs have gone up. For example, the cost of steel has nearly doubled.
  - Our costs have gone up. The cost of steel, for example, has nearly doubled.

- We use such as in the middle of a sentence to give examples. It is the same as ‘like’.

  - Some delays, such as strikes or bad weather, are beyond our control.
  - Some delays are beyond our control, such as strikes or bad weather.

Additional/real information: in fact, actually

- We use in fact, Actually or As a matter of fact to add a piece of information to what we just said. The second piece of information gives more details.

  - We have plenty in stock. In fact/As a matter of fact, we could deliver tomorrow.

We also use these words to emphasize what the real situation is. This is surprising or different to what people imagine.

  - I thought we had some in stock, but in fact/actually we don’t.

Sequence: first of all, as well as this, finally

- We can use First, Firstly, First of all to begin a series of points in a formal argument. For other numbered points we say Second, Secondly, etc.

  To add a point without numbering we can say As well as this, Besides this or In addition. At the end we can say Finally.

Why choose the Czech Republic? Well, first of all, it has lower labour costs than other neighbouring countries, and secondly, it has a stable currency. As well as this, it has a trained workforce with good labour relations, and finally, it has a strong local market.
• To finish one point we can say Overall or Taking everything into consideration.

Overall, a record 67% of the adult population is employed or looking for work, mainly because female participation in the labor force has jumped over the last two decades. (Business Week website)

To finish a formal speech we can say In conclusion.

In conclusion, I’d just like to thank you all very much for coming, and I look forward to seeing you again at our next meeting on 31 September.

Generalizing: in general, on the whole

• There are many words and phrases we can use to talk generally: In general, On the whole, As a rule, Typically, All in all, Basically, Overall, Broadly speaking.

Organisations typically have five ‘customer’ relationships: customers, business partners, suppliers, employees, and shareholders. (e-business advisor website)

• If we want to make a balanced argument we often use one of these phrases followed by a contrasting idea with a word like but.

In general the Japanese economy has not been very dynamic over recent years. However, some technology and telecom companies are growing very fast. On the whole, I think you’re right, although I disagree with you about the level of risk.

Summarizing: so, to sum up, in summary

• We can use So, In short, To put it simply, To sum up and In summary to summarize.

So, to sum up the main points of my presentation so far, we are a truly international company offering a full range of services to corporate and private clients in the areas of finance, banking and insurance.

To put it simply, food processors will lose competitiveness as a direct result of EU membership. (Business Central Europe website)

Either ... or ..., instead of, except for

• We use either to begin a list of possibilities. We do not begin with or. The other possibilities are introduced with or.

Either we could cancel the product launch, or postpone it. (NOT Or we could cancel)

But in speech we can begin with or to complete the other person’s idea.

A: ‘We could just cancel the launch.’
B: ‘Or perhaps postpone it.’

• We use instead (of) to mean ‘in the place of something else’. At the end of a sentence, instead is used without of.

Can we have the meeting on Friday instead of Thursday?

Thursday is no good? OK, can we have it on Friday instead?

• We use except, except for or apart from to mean ‘not including’.

I have contacted everyone except (for) Margaret.

Want to enter the city?
Sorry, you’ll have to pay.

Traffic congestion in city centres is a big problem for both businesses and residents. Policy makers are being forced to think of solutions based on public transport, road pricing and restricted use of one kind or another (1) __________ unlimited access for cars at all times. What are the reasons for this? (2) __________, cars cause noise and pollution in areas where people walk, shop or go sightseeing, and (3) __________ this they are of course quite dangerous. (4) __________, cars cause traffic jams and (5) __________ many hours of work time are lost. (6) __________, people need incentives before they change their habits and alternatives to cars are often not available or of poor quality. The first thing is that public transport must become more reliable and more comfortable. (7) __________, bicycle use should be encouraged, (8) __________ by having more cycle lanes. Some large cities, (9) __________ Amsterdam, are already organised in this way. But the most radical measure is road pricing. Asking motorists to pay to enter city centres is controversial, but is an increasingly common solution. So, (10) __________, we can see that imaginative and sometimes unpopular measures will be needed to make the city centre a more pleasant place to work and live.

IV. Translation: (max. 16 points)

Translate the following sentences into English:

Michael Connel se stal známým jako spoluzakladatel jednoho slavného a úspěšného investičního fondu i svým výkonem v oblasti vyhledávání bezpečných a rychle rostoucích výnosů z investovaného majetku. Spíše než tradičním metodám hodnocení rizika důvěřoval svému instinktu a zkušenosti. Ačkoliv jeho předpovědi vývoje akciového trhu nebyly vždy zcela přesné, většinou byl jeho úsudek správný a jeho rozhodnutí přinášela klientům vysoké příjmy.

17. What is the most pessimistic prediction of a situation when the oil supply has been overestimated and there is no oil left?

18. Why can’t we regard measurements of oil supplies performed by oil companies as true and unquestionable?
Fill in the missing words in their correct form in the interview summary:

Energy sources are usually divided into two types: (1) __________________ and (2) __________________. The first group refers to energies dependent on using (3) ________________ or (4) ________________ (5) ________________. An example is given to illustrate that if you use a (6) ________________ of oil for the production of electricity or (7) ________________, it is clear that it'll never be (8) _________________.

However, the second type of energy sources is dependent on (9) __________________ (10) ________________, such as (11) ________________, that are (12) ________________. It means that the same (13) ________________ of energy will always be available.

People nowadays see many wind (14) ________________ or wind (15) ________________ that use wind (16) ________________ that originates from – like many other renewable or (17) ________________ energies – (18) ________________. The sun not only creates wind, but it also (19) ________________ heat, which makes water (20) ________________.

Other renewable sources include (21) ________________ (22) ________________, water and (23) ________________ (24) ________________, and (25) ________________ energy. Nevertheless, there are renewable energies that are not dependent on the sun, such as (26) ________________ energy or (27) ________________ energy which uses the (28) ________________ effect of the (29) ________________.

Mia says that alternative energy sources will play an important role in the future because they are (30) ________________, unlike the traditional sources, and they are (31) ________________ – you needn't (32) ________________ anything to produce electricity. They produce no gases that (33) ________________ the (34) ________________ or (35) ________________ health problems. Unfortunately, there is no simply way people can suddenly (36) ________________ to using these sources.

The problems associated with these energies include high costs, the fact that many of these technologies are (37) ________________, and the nature itself because for example if the wind doesn't (38) ________________, you have to (39) ________________ for (40) ________________ in the (41) ________________ of energy that can be produced.

An example of the UK shows that the main uses of energy there are (42) ________________ (43) ________________ and (44) ________________. Then to a (45) ________________ degree there is industry and services. If somebody wanted to (46) ________________ the energy that the first two sectors (47) ________________ with electricity from wind, they would have to build a huge number of wind (48) ________________, which is not nowadays possible because of technical and (49) ________________ reasons. Therefore the UK government has (50) ________________ a fairly (51) ________________ (52) ________________ - 25% of energy from clean sources by (53) ________________. (54) ________________ energy can be a solution but nobody wants to live next to a (55) ________________ (56) ________________ (57) ________________. So it is obvious that alternative energy sources can help but they won't (58) ________________ a (59) ________________ (60) ________________.

Conditional clauses

If we sold ... (possible past)
When we want to talk about past events which possibly happened, we use If + past simple in the condition clause, and any tense or modal in the result clause.

If you went to the meeting yesterday, you probably heard the news.
If you missed the TV programme last night, you can borrow the recording I made.

If we had sold ... (imaginary past)
When we want to talk about past events that are different to what really happened, we use:

If + past perfect, would + have + past participle
(condition) (result)

If Clinton and Gore had won the election, they would have promoted free trade agreements with other nations in the same way as Bush. (Yahoo Business News website)

There is often a suggestion of criticism or regret:

If the economic situation had been better, we wouldn’t have lost so many customers.

• A contracted ‘d in speech can be had in the condition or would in the result.

If I’d done an MBA, I’d have had more opportunities.

• The examples above are about two actions in the past. If the result clause refers to the present we use would + infinitive.

If I had done an MBA, I would be on a higher salary now.

Conditionals without if

• We use if for something that might happen in the future, or something imaginary. We use when for something that we know will happen.

I’ll call you if I get a chance. (I’m not sure if I will phone you)
I’ll call you when I arrive. (I will definitely phone you)

We can use either if or when where the meaning is ‘every time’.

If/When anyone rings my mobile, I get a photograph of the person on the screen.

• In informal speech we sometimes use imagine or supposing in place of if.

Imagine/Supposing you had a million dollars, how would you invest it?

• We can use provided that, providing, on condition that, as long as and so long as for emphasis. The meaning is ‘if and only if’.

As long as there is new technology, consultants will continue to be in demand. (Sunday Times website)

• We can use in case to talk about doing something to avoid a possible problem later. The result clause usually comes first and often uses going to.

I’m going to give you my mobile number in case you need to contact me.

• We use unless to mean If not.
Wish

- We use I wish to express regret or dissatisfaction.
- For the present and future, use I wish followed by the past simple or continuous.

  I wish we didn’t have so many meetings.
  I wish I wasn’t working next weekend.
- For the past, use I wish followed by the past perfect.

  I wish we had advertised on television.
  I wish I hadn’t eaten the oysters.
- If the wish is a good one, use I hope followed by the present simple or will.

  I hope your presentation goes well.
  I hope the merger will be a success.
- If the wish is about doing something that is difficult or impossible, use I wish I could.

  I wish I could contact him, but he hasn’t got a mobile phone.
- We can replace I wish with If only for emphasis. We stress only in speech.

  If only I hadn’t eaten the oysters.
  If only I could contact him.

Modal verbs in conditionals

- The examples in unit 17 were with will. But other modal verbs like can, could, may, might, must and should are common in conditional sentences and have their normal meanings.

  If you deal with the Middle East you must be available to your customers on Saturdays and Sundays. (Overseas Trade magazine)

  If the euro were weak in the long term, companies might slow down their drive to increase productivity and governments might put the brake on their structural reforms. (Le Monde diplomatique website)

  Compaq CEO Michael Capellas commented on the recent decline of dot.com firms, which were so popular on the U.S. stock market a few months ago. ‘If you don’t have a sound business plan, you cannot succeed.’ (International Herald Tribune website)

- We often use present forms like will and can with likely futures, and past forms like would (’d) and could with imaginary futures.

  If you sign now, we’ll/can deliver by Friday. (likely future)
  If you signed now, we’d/could deliver by Friday. (imaginary future)

- But it is also common to find mixed tense sequences because modals keep their normal meanings:

  If Hungarian farmers respond to competition by improving productivity and becoming more efficient at marketing, they could have a bigger share of the market. (Business Central Europe website)

  With a present form (respond) we might expect can. However could is used here with its normal meaning of uncertainty (can does not express uncertainty).

If I were you, ...

- We can use If I were in place of If I was in imaginary futures, particularly when we give advice with the phrase If I were you.

  If I were you, I’d wait until tomorrow.
  I’d be more careful, if I were you.

Mixed Conditionals

Sometimes Unreal Conditional sentences are mixed. This means that the time in the if-clause is not the same as the time in the result. Study the examples below to learn how to mix conditional verb forms like a native speaker.

Verbs in green are in the Present Unreal Conditional.
Verbs in red are in the Past Unreal Conditional.
Verbs in purple are in the Future Unreal Conditional.

Mixed Conditional Patterns

PAST | PRESENT
---|---

Examples:
- If I had won the lottery, I would be rich.
  But I didn’t win the lottery in the past and I am not rich now.
- If I had taken French in high school, I would have more job opportunities.
  But I didn’t take French in high school and I don’t have many job opportunities.
- If she had been born in the United States, she wouldn’t need a visa to work here.
  But she wasn’t born in the United States and she does need a visa now to work here.

PAST | FUTURE
---|---

Examples:
- If she had signed up for the ski trip last week, she would be joining us tomorrow.
  But she didn’t sign up for the ski trip last week and she isn’t going to join us tomorrow.
- If Mark had gotten the job instead of Joe, he would be moving to Shanghai.
  But Mark didn’t get the job and Mark is not going to move to Shanghai.
- If Darren hadn’t wasted his Christmas bonus gambling in Las Vegas, he would go to Mexico with us next month.
  But Darren wasted his Christmas bonus gambling in Las Vegas and he won’t go to Mexico with us next month.

PRESENT | PAST
---|---

Examples:
- If I were rich, I would have bought that Ferrari we saw yesterday.
  But I am not currently rich and that is why I didn’t buy the Ferrari yesterday.
- If Sam spoke Russian, he would have translated the letter for you.
  But Sam doesn’t speak Russian and that is why he didn’t translate the letter.
- If I didn’t have to work so much, I would have gone to the party last night.
  But I have to work a lot and that is why I didn’t go to the party last night.

PRESENT | FUTURE
---|---

Examples:
- If I didn’t have so much vacation time, I wouldn’t go with you on the cruise to Alaska next week.
  But I do have a lot of vacation time and I will go on the trip next week.
- If Cindy were more creative, the company would send her to New York to work on the new advertising campaign.
  But Cindy is not creative and the company won’t send her to New York to work on the new campaign.
- If Dan weren’t so nice, he wouldn’t be tutoring you in math tonight.
  But Dan is nice and he is going to tutor you tonight.
Examples:

- If I weren't going on my business trip next week, I would have accepted that new assignment at work.
  But I am going to go on a business trip next week, and that is why I didn't accept that new assignment at work.

- If my parents weren't coming this weekend, I would have planned a nice trip just for the two of us to Napa Valley.
  But my parents are going to come this weekend, and that is why I didn't plan a trip for the two of us to Napa Valley.

- If Donna weren't making us a big dinner tonight, I would have suggested that we go to that nice Italian restaurant.
  But she is going to make us a big dinner tonight, and that is why I didn't suggest that we go to that nice Italian restaurant.

Examples:

- If I were going to that concert tonight, I would be very excited.
  But I am not going to go to that concert tonight and that is why I am not excited.

- If Sandy were giving a speech tomorrow, she would be very nervous.
  But Sandy is not going to give a speech tomorrow and that is why she is not nervous.

- If Seb didn't come with us to the desert, everyone would be very disappointed.
  But Seb will come with us to the desert and that is why everyone is so happy.

Exercise:

1. She will take care of the children for us next weekend because her business trip was canceled.
   - But, she (take, not) would not be taking care of the children for us next weekend if her business trip (be, not) had not been canceled.

   - But, Marie (be) _______________ happy if she (give, not) _______________ up her career when she got married.

4. Dr. Mercer decided not to accept the research grant at Harvard because he is going to take six months off to spend more time with his family.
   - But, Dr. Mercer (accept) _______________ the research grant at Harvard if he (take, not) _______________ six months off to spend more time with his family.

5. Professor Schmitz talked so much about the Maasai tribe because she is an expert on African tribal groups.
   - But, Professor Schmitz (talk, not) _______________ so much about the Maasai tribe if she (be, not) _______________ an expert on African tribal groups.
6. I am unemployed because I had a disagreement with my boss and I was fired.
   > But, I (be, not) _________________ unemployed if I (have, not) _________________ a disagreement with my boss and I (be, not) _________________ fired.

7. Nicole speaks Chinese fluently because she lived in China for ten years.
   > But, Nicole (speak, not) _________________ Chinese fluently if she (live, not) _________________ in China for ten years.

8. I will not help you study for your test because you have spent the last two weeks partying and wasting time.
   > But, I (help) _________________ you study for your test if you (spend, not) _________________ the last two weeks partying and wasting time.

9. Eleanor and Ben are not going skiing with us this year because Eleanor just had a baby.
   > But, Eleanor and Ben (go) _________________ skiing with us this year if Eleanor (have, not, just) _________________ a baby.

10. I am completely exhausted, so I will not go with you to the movies tonight.
    > But, if I (be, not) _________________ completely exhausted, I (go) _________________ with you to the movies tonight.

Future forms

will
- We can use will + the infinitive (without to) to refer to the future. Will is usually shortened in speech and informal writing to ‘ll. The negative of will is won’t.
- We use will to talk about future events that we see as facts:

  In June we will bring out two new models.
  Next year I’ll be 45.
  The government will soon impose an obligation on all electricity supply companies to buy a specified percentage of their power from renewable sources. (Guardian website)

- We use will to talk about future beliefs:
  Lynch believes that globalization and consolidation in the technology sector will create a greater demand for large and powerful bourses. ‘Stock markets will have to cover a lot more market capitalisation and smaller markets will have less of a role’ says Lynch. (Observer website)

- We can add perhaps/maybe or probably to make the belief less certain:
  The first wave of losses resulting from the mergers in German banking will probably be in the City of London. (BusinessWeek website)

- Notice that probably comes after will but before won’t:
  He’ll probably agree with you.
  He probably won’t agree with you.

- We can use will with an introductory phrase to give other meanings. For example, a personal opinion (I think) or a hope (I hope):
  I think we’ll probably open a subsidiary in Russia next year.
  I hope he’ll agree with you.

- Will can be used for instant decisions and thoughts that come into our head at the moment of speaking.
  I’ll wait for you outside.
  I’ll phone you tomorrow.
  I think I’ll stop now.

Going to
- We use the verb be + going to + the infinitive to make a connection between the present and the future.
- We use going to for plans and intentions. These are things we have already decided to do.
  I believe that Greenspan is going to lower rates. There are some signs of liquidity problems in the credit markets at this point in time, and a smart central bank responds by casing credit. (New York Times website)

- The time in the future can be near or distant:
  I’m going to call Fiona Clarke this afternoon.
  We’re going to open a factory in Hungary next year.

- We use going to to make predictions when there is some evidence in the present situation:
  Be careful! It’s going to fall. (I can see it)
  I think we’re going to lose this deal. (I’ve just heard some news)
Present continuous

• We can use the present continuous tense to talk about things we have arranged to do in the future. There is nearly always a time expression.

  Ann is leaving tomorrow morning.
  HSBC are moving to new premises next year.

  The arrangements are often social arrangements or appointments.

  What are you doing on Tuesday afternoon?
  I’m seeing Jack at two, and after that I’m meeting my bank manager.

Will or going to?

• Will is used for instant decisions. Going to is used for plans and intentions.

  Compare:
  OK, I know what to do. I’ll call Jane. (an instant decision)
  Do you have the information for Jane? I’m going to call her this afternoon. (an intention)

• Will is used for general beliefs, opinions, hopes and things the speaker sees as facts.

  I’m sure they’ll like the new design.
  In the future, more people will work from home.

• When will is used with a phrase like I think and/or words like probably then the belief/opinion becomes less certain, like a prediction.

  I think you’ll like this idea.
  The world will probably end in about five billion years.

  But if there is strong evidence in the present situation then going to is usually used for predictions:

  I think it’s going to rain. (I can see black clouds)
  We’re going to make a loss on this project. (I have the figures in front of me)

• There are occasions when we can use either form:

  In my presentation I’ll talk/I’m going to talk about three main areas. First, ...

  Here the speaker could see it as a fact (will) or an intention (going to).

• Will is more usual in writing. ’ll and going to are more usual in speech.

Going to or present continuous?

• For future plans and arrangements there is often little difference between going to and the present continuous.

  I’m going to give/I’m giving my presentation on Friday.

• Going to can suggest that the details of the arrangement have not been finalized. The present continuous can suggest that the arrangement is more fixed, with a time and a place.

  I’m going to meet him next week. (just a plan — time and place are still unknown)
  I’m meeting him at ten in my office. (a definite, fixed arrangement)

Time expressions

• Common time expressions for the future include: tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, on Friday, at the weekend, next week, in a few days’ time.
Future: time expressions

- We use the present simple or the present perfect (not will) to refer to the future after these words: when, after, before, unless, in case, as soon as, until, by the time, the next time:

  When I see her, I’ll tell her you called.
  We’ll discuss it again after you get back.
  As soon as I’ve finished the report, I’ll email it to you.
  You can wait here until she comes back.

  Notice that a future form (will, can) is used in the other part of the sentence.

Present simple / continuous

- We often use the present simple (or present continuous) when we talk about events in the future based on a fixed timetable, programme or calendar:

  Jim’s plane leaves (is leaving) at 12.15.
  Our boss retires (is retiring) next year.

Future continuous

- The future continuous is formed with will + be + the -ing form of the verb:

  One thing that is clear is that more and larger Taiwanese companies will be investing in China and that the new government will allow them to. (Asiaweek website)

- The future continuous describes an activity in progress in the future.
  We often use it when we compare what we are doing now with what we will be doing in the future. There is nearly always a time expression.

  Next year I’ll be working in our Sao Paulo office.
  Where will you be working in six months’ time?

- The future continuous is often used to say that something will definitely happen:

  We’ll be holding a meeting soon, so we can make a decision then.

Future perfect

- The future perfect is formed with will + have + past participle:

  By the time I retire, I’ll have been in banking for over thirty years.
  By the year 2020 the volume of goods produced by traditional manufacturing worldwide will probably be at least twice what it is today. But in the US, the share of manufacturing in GDP, which is still around 15% or so, will have shrunk to 5%. (IndustryWeek website)

- We use the future perfect to look back from one point in the future to an earlier event or period of time. We often use by or by the time with the future perfect:

  By the time we prepare our proposal they’ll have found another supplier.
  By the end of the year we’ll have sold around 1,000 units.

- It is common to use a simple will form in place of the future perfect, although some people think this is not grammatically correct:

  By the time we’ve prepared our proposal they’ll find another supplier.
  By the end of the year we’ll sell around 1,000 units.

- We use the continuous form of the future perfect to look back from one point in the future at an activity in progress:

  Next year we’ll have been manufacturing the same model for ten years.
Was going to

- Was/were going to is not a future form. We use it to refer to something that we planned in the past but did not do:

  I’m sorry, I was going to phone you this morning, but I had to see one of our clients.

Other ways to talk about the future

- We often use modals and related verbs like should, be likely to, could, may, might to refer to the future.
- We use the verbs expect, hope, intend, would like, plan, want followed by an infinitive (to do) to refer to the future:

  German automaker BMW is planning to build a production plant in Central or Eastern Europe by the middle of 2001 – and the Czech Republic is hoping to get the contract. (praguepost website)

  Notice the negative forms:

  I expect/hope I won’t ...
  We don’t intend/plan/want to ...
  I wouldn’t like to ...

- We can use the verb think followed by ’ll:

  I think/don’t think I’ll change my Internet Service Provider.

- We can use be due to for things that we expect to happen:

  Mr Welch, who hits GE’s mandatory retirement age of 65 next month, has built GE into America’s No. 1 company in stock market valuation. He is due to name the next chairman and chief executive of GE in the next few days. (Wall Street Journal Europe website)

- We can use be about to for things that will (will not) happen very soon:

  A look at the stock-market valuations of big software houses such as Cisco and Oracle show that the pace of development in new technology is not about to slow. (Forbes.com website)

- In modern English Shall I/we ...? are used to make suggestions, not to refer to the future.

  Shall I open the window?
  Shall we meet again next week?

  Shall is still used for the future in formal situations, for example legal documents.

Consumer power is important as it has (1) ______________ (2) ______________ for companies. Many of them already describe themselves as (3) ‘__________________’ or (4) ‘__________________’. Because of the existence of the internet their (5) ______________ will be (6) ______________ as never before – for example (7) ______________ on (8) ______________ (9) ______________ will no longer be possible because people will find out that (10) ______________ in a different place are cheaper or that certain (11) ______________ are (12) ______________. The internet is working (13) ______________ in (14) ______________ standards.

Another aspect is that (15) ______________ (16) ______________ takes place online, i.e. people can (17) ______________ products, prices and (18) ______________. They can read about the products and even discover what (19) ______________ (20) ______________ have to say. In addition, (21) ______________ and (22) ______________ constantly (23) ______________ the products.

In the past, people would often visit a (24) ______________ (25) ______________ or (26) ______________ to (27) ______________ around, (28) ______________ out products and (29) ______________ (30) ______________ from a (31) ______________, look at the (32) ______________ from him and buy or go to a (33) ______________. Nowadays, however, each of these steps is (34) ______________. For example, 80% of Ford’s customers know what they want to buy before they arrive at a (35) ______________, which means that having (36) ______________ (37) ______________ is of little (38) ______________.

People now spend as much time (39) ______________ the (40) ______________ as they do with other activities, but (41) ______________ the (42) ______________ of information (43) ______________ available, consumers are (44) ______________ ever to become (45) ______________ (46) ______________. (47) ______________ and (48) ______________ will (49) ______________. Although brands will probably stay popular, brand (50) ______________ are (51) ______________. A (52) ______________ or a (53) ______________ can cost companies (54) ______________ and (55) ______________ the advantage to an (56) ______________ (57) ______________. This is what happened to Apple when its iPod (58) ______________ from Sony the (59) ______________ (60) ______________ in (61) ______________ music (62) ______________.

Pat (the interviewer) says that many firms do not yet seem (63) ______________ of the (64) ______________ (65) ______________ of newly (66) ______________ consumers and Rob adds that, on the other hand, some businesses have (67) ______________ the internet (68) ______________ and they have been (69) ______________ for it. For instance, Dell has (70) ______________ retailers and used (71) ______________ (72) ______________. The internet is also (73) ______________ the (74) ______________ business as people are able to (75) ____________ flights, cars and hotels directly. And it has also allowed many small businesses, from (76) ____________ stores to (77) ____________ of (78) ____________

1. Where and when did Jobs and Otellini hug, which was considered as surprising?

2. How can the relationship between “Wintel” and Apple be described?

3. What did Mr Jobs and Mr Otellini announce as far as they future plans are concerned?

4. Why was the decision to start using Intel’s chips a shock for Apple’s supporters?

5. Why were Intel’s chips more suitable for Apple, according to Mr Jobs?

6. In what parameters was IBM worse, and what did this company refuse to give Mr Jobs?

7. What are the two reasons explaining why the loss of contract with Apple won’t be so painful for IBM?
   1. ________________________________
   2. ________________________________

8. What market share of Intel is mentioned in the text?

9. In which two areas is Apple the most innovative player of the industry?

10. How did some of the software developers react to the new Apple-Intel alliance?

11. What does Ms Conigliaro think about the fact that many applications will have to be rewritten?

12. What examples are given to show that “old certainties are gone”, and what metaphor illustrates such a situation?

13. Who are the other potential partners “to hug”?
When I do / When I’ve done When and if

Study these examples:

A: What time will you phone me tomorrow?
B: I’ll phone you when I get home from work.

‘I’ll phone you when I get home from work’ is a sentence with two parts:

the main part: ‘I’ll phone you’ and the when-part: ‘when I get home from work (tomorrow)’

The time in the sentence is future (‘tomorrow’) but we use a present tense (get) in the when-part of the sentence.

We do not use will in the when-part of the sentence:

• We’ll go out when it stops raining. (not ‘when it will stop’)
• When you are in London again, you must come and see us. (not ‘when you will be’)
• (said to a child) What do you want to be when you grow up? (not ‘will grow’)

The same thing happens after: while before after as soon as until or till

• I’m going to read a lot of books while I’m on holiday. (not ‘while I will be’)
• I’m going back home on Sunday. Before I go, I’d like to visit the museum.
• Wait here until (or till) I come back.

You can also use the present perfect (have done) after when, after, until, as soon as:

• Can I borrow that book when you’ve finished it?
• Don’t say anything while Ian is here. Wait until he has gone.

It is often possible to use the present simple or the present perfect:

• I’ll come as soon as I finish. or I’ll come as soon as I’ve finished.
• You’ll feel better after you have something to eat. or You’ll feel better after you’ve had something to eat.

But do not use the present perfect if two things happen together. The present perfect shows that one thing will be complete before the other (so the two things do not happen together). Compare:

• When I’ve phoned Kate, we can have dinner.
  (= First I’ll phone Kate and after that we can have dinner.)
• When I phone Kate this evening, I’ll invite her to the party. (not ‘when I’ve phoned’)
  (In this example, the two things happen together.)

After if, we normally use the present simple (if I do / if I see etc.) for the future:

• It’s raining hard. We’ll get wet if we go out. (not ‘if we will go’)
• Hurry up! If we don’t hurry, we’ll be late.

Compare when and if:
We use when for things which are sure to happen:

• I’m going shopping this afternoon. (for sure) When I go shopping, I’ll buy some food.

We use if (not ‘when’) for things that will possibly happen:

• I might go shopping this afternoon. (it’s possible) If I go shopping, I’ll buy some food.
• If it is raining this evening, I won’t go out. (not ‘when it is raining’)
• Don’t worry if I’m late tonight. (not ‘when I’m late’)
• If they don’t come soon, I’m not going to wait. (not ‘when they don’t come’)

Determiners

A determiner is a word used in front of a noun to show which thing you mean, or to show the quantity of something. Determiners include: a/the, my/your, this/that, all/most/some/any, no/none, much/many/a little/a few, each/every, both/either/neither.

We do not use a determiner if we are talking generally.

Our/Those/Some computers are expensive. (particular computers)
Computers are a part of everyone’s life. (computers in general)

All, most, many, some, a few

Before a plural noun we can use all/most/many/some/a few. Note the structures:

All/most/many/some/a few employees have 25 days’ paid holiday.
All/most/many/some/a few of the employees have 25 days’ paid holiday.
All the employees have 25 days paid holiday. (NOT Most the ... /Many the ... etc.)

We can use my, your, etc., in place of the, and we can use pronouns:

All/most/many/some/a few of our employees have 25 days’ paid holiday.
All/most/many/some/a few of them have 25 days’ paid holiday.

Before an uncountable noun similar structures are possible. We use much in place of many, a little in place of a few, and it for the pronoun.

All/most/much/some/a little of the information in this report is useful.
All/most/much/some/a little of it is useful.

With singular nouns we do not use the words above, except for a few special expressions: all day, all night

All meaning ‘everything’ or ‘the only thing’

We can use all + subject + verb to mean ‘everything’ or ‘the only thing’:

That’s all I know about it. (all = everything)
All we need is a signature. (all = the only thing)

In modern English it is unusual to use all as a single-word subject or object. Instead we use everything.

All the preparations are/Everything is going well. (NOT All is going well.)
I want to hear all your news/everything. (NOT I want to hear all.)

Both, either, neither

We use both, either and neither to refer to two things.

Both means ‘the one and the other’. Note the structures:

Both emails/both the emails/both of the emails/both of them are important.
The emails are both important. I’ve read them both.

Either means ‘the one or the other’. Neither means ‘not the one or the other’.

Monday or Tuesday? Yes, either day/either of the days is fine.
Monday or Tuesday? I’m sorry but neither day/neither of the days is convenient.

This is a hell of a gamble – one that may pay off for both, one, or neither of the two companies. (Fortune website)
No, none

• We can use no with a singular noun, plural noun or uncountable noun.

  No employee has more than 25 days’ paid holiday.
  No new ideas were put forward at the meeting. There was no useful information in the report.

• We do not use no if there is another negative word. In this case we use any.

  We haven’t dismissed any employees. (NOT We haven’t dismissed no employees.)

• We do not use no of. Instead, we use none of or none on its own as a pronoun.

  *None of the employees have more than 25 days’ paid holiday.
  None have more than 25 days’ paid holiday.

• To emphasize the idea of none we can use None at all or Not one or Not a:

  A: How many people came?
  B: None at all!/Not one!/Not a single person!

Germany’s Neuer Markt All Share index dropped below the 1,500 mark for the first time yesterday. Not a single stock in the top 20 stocks showed a gain. (Yahoo Business News website)

Each, every

• The meaning of each and every is similar and often either word is possible. They are both followed by a singular noun.

• We use each when we think of the members of a group as individuals, one by one. It is more usual with smaller groups and can mean only two.

  Make sure that each parcel has a label.

  Samsung and Globetronics know they have to raise their brand profile. Management consultants will debate each firm’s strategy, but in the end consumers will determine whether these companies are successful in a more globalized world. (asiaweek website)

• We use every when we think of all the members together, and it is usual with a larger number.

  *Sales have increased every year for the last five years.
  I believe every word he says.

• We can use each of, but we cannot use every of.

  *Each of the parcels needs a label.

• Each can be used after the subject, or at the end of a sentence.

  *The parcels each need a label.
  The parcels need a label each.

Purpose & Concession clauses

To..., for... and so that... (purpose)

We use to... to say why somebody does something (= the purpose of an action):

- ‘Why did you go out?’ ‘To post a letter.’
- A friend of mine phoned to invite me to a party.
- We shouted to warn everybody of the danger.

So that

Sometimes you have to use so that for purpose. We use so that (not to...):

i) when the purpose is negative (so that ... won’t/wouldn’t):
   - I hurried so that I wouldn’t be late. (= because I didn’t want to be late)
   - Leave early so that you won’t (or don’t) miss the bus.

ii) with can and could (so that ... can/could)
   - She’s learning English so that she can study in Canada.
   - We moved to London so that we could visit our friends more often.

iii) when one person does something so that another person does something else:
   - I gave her my address so that she could contact me.
   - He wore glasses and a false beard so that nobody would recognize him.

Although / though / even though; In spite of / despite (concession)

After although we use a subject + verb:

- Although it rained a lot, we enjoyed our holiday.
- I didn’t get the job although I had all the necessary qualifications.

Compare the meaning of although and because:

- We went out although it was raining.
- We didn’t go out because it was raining.

After in spite of or despite, we use a noun, a pronoun (this/that/what etc.) or -ing:

- In spite of the rain, we enjoyed our holiday.
- I didn’t get the job in spite of having all the necessary qualifications.
- She wasn’t well, but in spite of this she went to work.
- In spite of what I said yesterday, I still love you.

Despite is the same as in spite of. Note that we say ‘in spite of’, but despite (without ‘of’):

- She wasn’t well, but despite this she went to work. (not ‘despite of this’)

You can say ‘in spite of the fact (that)...’ and ‘despite the fact (that)...’:

- I didn’t get the job in spite of the fact (that) I had all the necessary qualifications.

Compare in spite of and because of:

- We went out in spite of the rain. (or ...despite the rain.)
- We didn’t go out because of the rain.

Reported speech

- We often tell people what other people have said. This is called reported or indirect speech. We very rarely try to report the exact words that someone says. Usually we give the general meaning with a summary.

  ‘Look, I’ve been phoning all day and he’s always in a meeting. Can you tell him that I’ll give him a call sometime next week, please?’ (actual words)
  → Sandra phoned. She said she’d call you next week. (report)

  ‘From what I can see, the advertising campaign is a great success.’ (actual words)
  → He said the campaign was a success. (report)

- Note the change of tense in the above examples: will to would and is to was.
  It is not always necessary to change tenses. If the statement is still true we can keep the same tense as the original. (See further for more details.)

  He said the campaign was a great success.   (the campaign is finished)
  He said the campaign is/was a great success. (the campaign is still happening)

- In writing we can repeat the exact words using speech marks (‘ ... ’).
  ‘I have no further comment to make at this stage,’ said the company press officer when he spoke to our reporter yesterday.
  These examples use said as the reporting verb. See further for other reporting verbs.

Tense changes

- When the verb tense changes it ‘moves back’ in time.

  Actual words | Report (Indirect speech)
  --------------|-------------------
  ‘I work for IBM.’ | She said she worked for IBM.
  ‘I’m working for IBM.’ | She said she was working for IBM.
  ‘I’ve worked for IBM.’ | She said she had worked for IBM.
  ‘I’ve been working for IBM.’ | She said she had been working for IBM.
  ‘I worked for IBM.’ | She said she had worked for IBM.
  ‘I had worked for IBM.’ | She said she had worked for IBM.
  ‘I’m going to work for IBM.’ | She said she was going to work for IBM.
  ‘I can/will/may work for IBM.’ | She said she could/would/might work for IBM.

  Kiwii, a Vienna-based telecoms company, said on Friday it was entering the Czech market by offering cheaper voice services through the Internet. (czechtoday website)

  Earlier in the week, a labor union report said that 751 deaths had occurred ‘on the job’ in Italy during the first six months of this year, up from 621 for the same period last year. (International Herald Tribune website)

  The Shading Aluminum Industry Co. said last week it would issue 160 million shares for listing on the Shanghai Stock Exchange. (Shanghai Daily website)

- There is no change for must, might, could, should, would.

- Note that there is no change for the past perfect (had worked).

No tense change

- We do not need to change tense if the information is still true.
  ‘The sales team are doing very well at the moment.’
  He says/said the team are doing very well.

- We do not need to change tense if we report something which is always true.
  ‘There is always a period of uncertainty after a merger.’
  He says/said there is always a period of uncertainty after a merger.
People, places, times and things

- In reported speech references to people, places, times and things often change, because the point of view changes.

  ’I’ll see you here tomorrow, said Sue.  ’I’ve read your report about this project, he said.

  Sue said she’d see me there the next day.  He said he’d read my report about the project.

- The examples in the previous paragraph show some of these typical changes:

  People:

  I → he/she

  you → me

  my → his/her

  your → my

  Place:

  here → there, at the office

  Times:

  now → then, at that time

  today → that day, on Monday

  yesterday → the day before, the previous day

  tomorrow → the next day, the following day, on Monday

  this afternoon → that afternoon

  last week → the week before, the previous week

  next week → the week after, the following week

  a few days ago → a few days before, a few days earlier

  Things:

  this project → that/the project

Say or tell

- We say something and we tell somebody.

  Simon said he was confident about the success of the Beta project.
  Simon told me the project was going well.

- We never use to between tell and the object.

  He told me what happened in the meeting.  (NOT told to me)

  We can use to after say, especially when the actual words are not reported.

  What did he say to you?

  I think the boss wanted to say something to Susan.

It + passive of a reporting verb

- We use It + passive of a reporting verb + that to report what people in general feel or believe. This is a formal use, for example in a newspaper story, a scientific report or a written summary of a meeting.

  It was announced at the conference that Argentina was losing Pesos $3, 000 million per annum on grain prices compared with the average in the last ten years. It was pointed out that international prices had not improved in two years, but this stability had allowed an increase in production.  (LatinTrade website)

  Verbs that are often used in this way are:

  be agreed, be announced, be believed, be claimed, be confirmed, be considered, be decided, be estimated, be expected, be feared, be felt, be found, be pointed out, be proposed, be reported, be rumoured, be said, be shown, be suggested, be thought.
Other reporting verbs

- There are many verbs to report what people say. Each verb has one or more possible patterns. Common reporting verbs include:

  Verb + -ing form: admit, deny, mention, propose, suggest
  Verb + to infinitive: agree, ask, demand, decide, offer, promise, refuse, threaten Verb + object + to infinitive: advise, ask, convince, encourage, invite, order, persuade, remind, tell, warn
  Verb + that clause: admit, agree, announce, answer, claim, complain, confirm, deny, explain, mention, promise, propose, reply, say, suggest
  Verb + object + that clause: advise, assure, convince, inform, notify, persuade, promise, reassure, remind, tell

- They denied doing anything wrong.
- I suggested changing our export agency.
- She promised to call me tomorrow.
- They refused to lower their price.
- He advised us to wait until next year.
- They invited me to come for lunch.
- They agreed (that) they’d wait.
- She promised (that) she’d call me tomorrow.
- I reminded them (that) they had to pay a 25% deposit.
- I told him (that) I couldn’t make the meeting next week.

- We use the same tense change rules as in the case of said.

  Greek telecom giant OTE won the privatisation contract with Rom Telecom. OTE promised that 70 per cent of the telephone system would be digital within three years. (Bucharest Business Week website)

- We can also report what people think or know. Verbs include: know, notice, think, realize, etc.

  Sorry, I didn’t realize you were busy. I thought you had finished.

Reporting questions

- The word order in reported questions is like a normal statement (this is the same rule as for indirect questions). Tense changes follow those given above.
  ‘Where is it?’ → He asked me where it was. (NOT where was it)

- When we report question word questions (when, what, why, where, how, etc.) we use the question word.
  ‘When will the goods arrive?’ → They asked me when the goods would arrive.
  ‘Why have your sales gone down?’ → I was asked why our sales had gone down.

  A year ago, I was asked how this wonderful merger between Daimler and Chrysler would work, and I said I was waiting for the interpersonal problems. They were bound to happen, as our experiences with Seat had shown.’ – CEO of Volkswagen (Der Spiegel website)

- When we report yes/no questions (Do you, Did you, Are you, etc.) we use if or whether.
  ‘Do you speak French?’ → She asked me if I spoke French.
  ‘Are you going to pay in cash?’ → He asked me whether I was going to pay in cash.

- Notice in the examples that reported questions have no question mark in writing.
Grammar exercises

1. Write the actual words that each person says. Use contractions where possible.

   1. Anna said that she had already finished.
      (Anna’s actual words) ‘I’ve already finished.’

   2. She said he would be back after lunch.
      (Her actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   3. He said she was going to contact the printers.
      (His actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   4. Paul said that he wanted to make a phone call.
      (Paul’s actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   5. She said she was meeting the bank manager at eleven.
      (Her actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   6. Pierre said he had found out about the problem a long time ago.
      (Pierre’s actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   7. David said he had to be back in the office by three thirty.
      (David’s actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

   8. Jan said she would let me know.
      (Jan’s actual words) ‘________________________________________________.’

2. Rewrite the sentences in reported speech. Use contractions where possible.

   1. ‘I won’t put it in the sales because it’s selling very well,’ she said.
      She said she wouldn’t put it in the sales because it was selling very well.

   2. ‘I’ve read the report and I don’t understand section 4,’ he said.
      He said ________________________________________________________.

   3. ‘When I finish my presentation, I’m going to have a drink,’ he said.
      He said that when ____________________________________________.

   4. ‘I’m preparing the figures but I won’t be long,’ she said.
      She said ________________________________________________________.

   5. ‘I like playing tennis, but I don’t do it very often,’ she said.
      She said ________________________________________________________.

   6. ‘I’m going to visit our Polish subsidiary, but I’m not sure when,’ she said.
      She said ________________________________________________________.
3. Look at the actual words spoken. Underline the correct words in the reported version.

1. (Helen’s words) ‘I won’t do it until tomorrow.’
   Helen said *I/*she wouldn’t do it until the previous/following day.
2. (Peter’s words) ‘It’s very busy in here. I’ll call you later.’
   Peter said it was very busy here/there, and he’d call me/him later.
3. (The sales manager’s words) ‘We received your order last week.’
   He said they’d/we’d received our/their order the week after/before.
4. (Mel Bowen’s words) ‘I’m sorry about the delay, I’ll deal with this now.’
   She said she/I was sorry about the delay, and she’d deal with it right then/later.

4. Read the words spoken in a conference presentation about the role of the Chief Executive Officer.

‘Jack Welch, one of the most famous CEOs of all time, was head of General Electric for twenty years. But he was an exception. In fact, two-thirds of all major companies worldwide have replaced their CEO over the last five years. What’s the reason? The reason is that expectations of CEO performance are far too high. Boards of companies look at their CEO as a kind of superhero who can solve all the company’s problems. This process started in the 1980s, and the prototype was Lee Iaccoca, ”the man who saved Chrysler Corp”. Then in the 1990s, we had CEOs from the technology sector, like Microsoft’s Bill Gates, or Cisco’s John Chambers, who managed to produce constantly rising share prices. But the situation is very different now and economic growth is slowing down.’

Now look at ways to report the words to a colleague. By each sentence write P/TC (if the sentence is Possible because of Tense Change rules), P/ST (if the sentence is Possible because it is Still True) or I (if the sentence is Incorrect).

The speaker said that ...

1. Jack Welch was CEO of General Electric for twenty years. P/TC
2. Jack Welch had been CEO of General Electric for twenty years. _________
3. Boards of companies look at their CEOs as superheroes. _________
4. Boards of companies looked at their CEOs as superheroes. _________
5. Boards of companies had looked at their CEOs as superheroes. _________
6. Lee Iaccoca started it all in the 1980s. _________
7. Lee Iaccoca had started it all in the 1980s. _________
8. Lee Iaccoca had been started it all in the 1980s. _________
9. The situation is different now. _________
10. The situation was different now. _________

5. Underline the correct words.

1. Sally told/told me that she had lost the catalogue.
2. This is confidential, please don’t say/tell anything about it.
3. This is confidential, please don’t say/tell anyone about it.
4. Chris said/said me he must leave early.
5. I said/told them about the meal, and they said/told they would come.
6. ‘You see,’ told/said Steve, ‘I always told/said you’d get a promotion.’
7. ‘You see,’ told/said Steve, ‘I always told/said you you’d get a promotion.’
8. ‘Look,’ I told to/said to her, ‘why don’t you tell/say me what you mean?’
6. On Friday morning you had a meeting with someone from your advertising agency at his offices. The words he spoke are on the left. The next week you tell a colleague about the discussion. Underline the correct words on the right.

The advertising person’s words: What you say to your colleague:

‘Did you get my email I sent yesterday about this campaign we’ve been working on? I hope so. I’m sorry to ask you to come here at such short notice, but it’s quite urgent. The situation is this: we use an outside printing company, and a few days ago the workers there went on strike. I’m having a meeting with a union representative this afternoon, but I thought I should talk to you first.’

‘He said he (1) hopes/hoped I’d got (2) his/my email that (3) he’d send/he’d sent (4) yesterday/the day before about (5) the/this advertising campaign (6) they’ve/we’ve been working on. And he apologized for asking (7) me/you to go (8) here/there at such short notice – he said it (9) is/was urgent. Well, apparently a few days (10) ago/before the printers they use (11) have gone/had gone on strike, and he (12) is/was meeting them (13) this/that afternoon. He said he thought he should talk to (14) me/you about it first.’

7. Read the extract from a meeting, chaired by Claudia. Then underline the most appropriate reporting verbs in the written summary below.

CLAUDIA: Oh, hi. Take a seat ... Um, I’d like to hear your views on the talks we’re having with BCP about the possible merger. Do you think we should go ahead with the discussions?

NIGEL: Well, no actually. I don’t think we should. Our company cultures are totally different, and I can’t see many opportunities to cut costs in a combined operation. I’m sorry, but I’m against it.

TONY: But, Nigel, can’t you see that we’re too small to stand alone in the global economy. There’s going to be rationalization in our market and now is the right time to act.

CLAUDIA: Um, right. How long do you think it would take to integrate the two companies?

TONY: Probably about six months, maybe more.

NIGEL: That’s six months of complete chaos and falling investor confidence. It’s just too risky.

CLAUDIA: Well, I don’t think we have enough information at the moment. Perhaps we could set up a task force to look into the whole issue in more detail?

TONY: Hmm.

CLAUDIA: Tony — would you be willing to chair it?

TONY: OK, I’ll chair a task force, but I’ll need representatives from the other departments as well.

CLAUDIA: That shouldn’t be a problem. When do you think you’ll be able to get the report done?

TONY: Um, in about six weeks.

NIGEL: Six weeks! That’s ridiculous.

TONY: OK, we’ll try to get all the information together in four weeks.

CLAUDIA: Right, that’s settled. We’ll meet again a month from today, same time same place.

1. It was estimated/announced that it would take about six months to integrate the two companies in the event of a merger.

2. It was rumoured/suggested that we could set up a task force to produce a report on the implications of the merger.

3. It was proposed/claimed that the task force would be chaired by Tony, with representatives from other departments.

4. It was shown/agreed that the task force should produce its report in four weeks.

5. It was claimed/decided that the next meeting would be on July 28th at 9 am in the main conference room.
8. Nigel (from Exercise 7) is talking to a colleague about the same meeting later in the week. Underline the correct words in his report.

‘Claudia asked us (1) that we give/to give our opinions about the merger talks. I (2) told them/told to them that I thought the whole thing was a bad idea, but they refused (3) to listen/listening. Of course Tony disagreed, as usual. He (4) told/said that we were too small for the global market. Then Claudia asked how long (5) would it/it would take to integrate the two companies, and Tony claimed it would (6) take/to take six months. Claudia suggested (7) setting up/to set up a task force to look into the whole thing. I decided (8) not saying/not to say anything. Tony offered (9) to chair/that he would chair the task force. He proposed that the task force (10) reporting/should report back in six weeks, but I (11) reminded them that/reminded that we’d need the report much sooner. Anyway, we decided (12) to meet/meeting again in a month.’

9. Match the actual words in sentences 1-12 with the reported statements a)–l).
