“Academic 15 minutes” means

- a) it is tolerated if a teacher appears in class 15 minutes late.
- b) it is tolerated if a student appears in class 15 minutes late.
- c) the class has to start 15 minutes later than what is written in the official timetables.
- d) it is just a saying that has no effect to the class management.

... reactions...

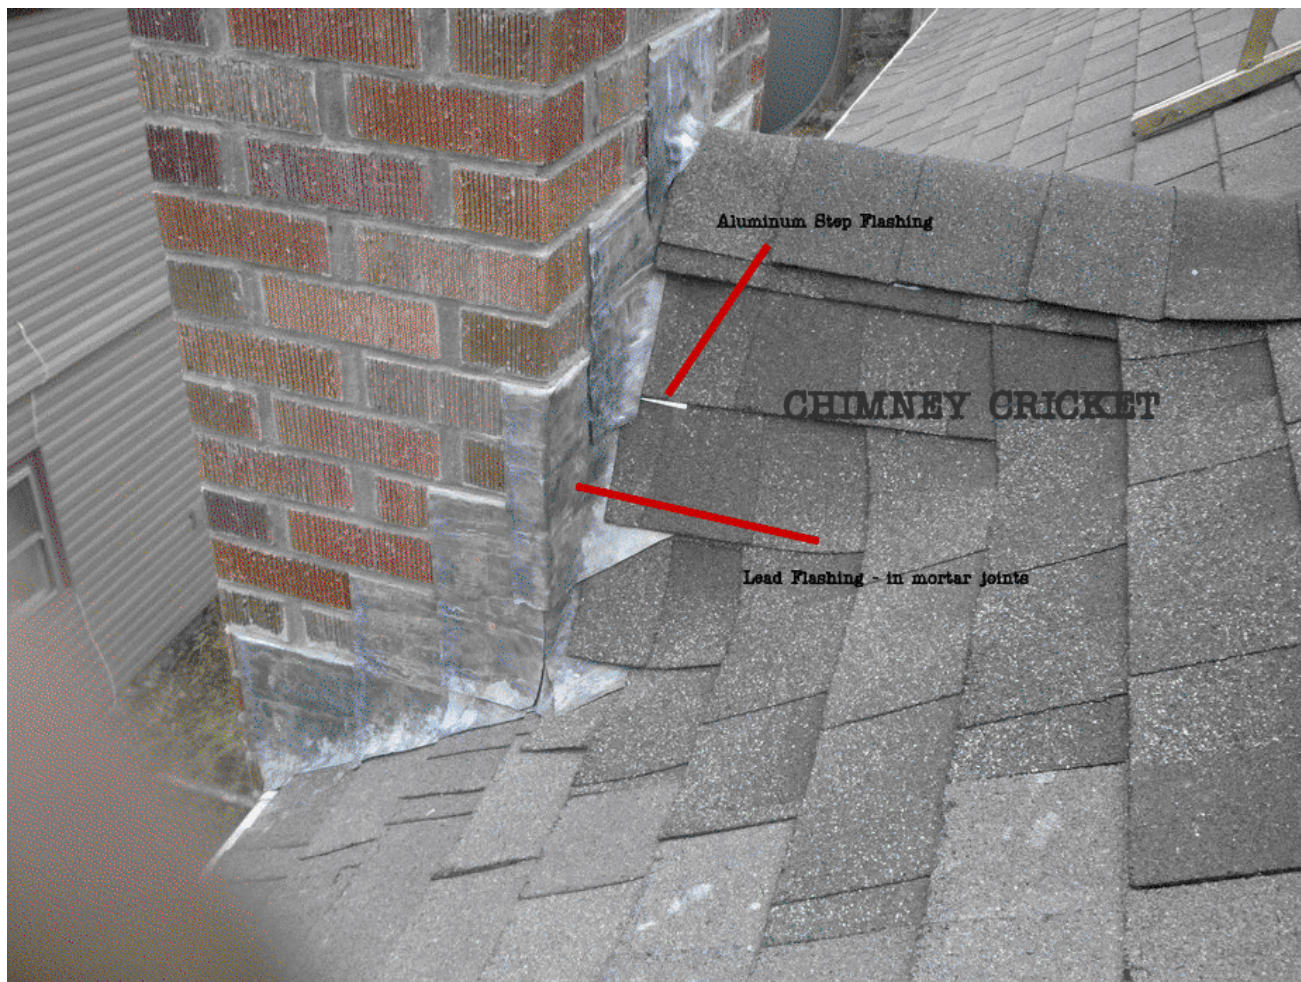

When a student comes after a session asking for help with the subject matter.

- a) Always, the teacher has to deal with that issue at that moment of the student request.
- b) The teacher should never deal with that issue in the time of a break. Instead, they should inform the student about their consultation hours and instruct them to come for that time to their office.
- c) It depends on the student's request, on the situation, on how busy the teacher is at the moment....

... it's all about cricket...

- Most people are really surprised the first time they try a cricket.
- Cricket can symbolize good luck and protection.
- Cricket often appears in literature.

Culture: Two Paradigms

Essentialist view

Non-essentialist view

Adrian Holliday's Small Cultures

This suggests that 'culture' is a movable concept used by different people at different times to suit purposes of identity, politics and science.

Culture: Two Paradigms

The essentialist view (Geert Hofstede)

This suggests that ‘culture’ is a concrete social phenomenon which represents the essential character of a particular nation.
