This is BBC World. Putting News First.

- Obama confirms commitment to Asia. US President welcomes a bigger international role for China and pledges greater cooperation with Asian countries.
- New York 9/11 trial ignites row. Senior US Republicans condemn the Obama administration's move to try alleged 9/11 mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed and four others in New York.
- 'Significant' water found on Moon. Nasa's experiment to find water on the Moon was a major success.

This is BBC World. Very warm welcome from me, your name. Also in the programme

- Rethink for calorie eating levels. The calorie counts used as the foundation for diet plans and healthy-eating guidance for the past 18 years may be wrong, a report suggests.
- Nadal ends Tsonga's London hopes. Rafael Nadal's win over Jo-Wilfried Tsonga at the Paris Masters earned fellow Spaniard Fernando Verdasco a place at the World Tour Finals.....and finally
- Homes flood amid weather warning. Firefighters in Kent and Sussex have been dealing with a series of floods amid severe weather warnings.

Hello to you.

- There seems to be a "first" to everything that President Barack Obama is, or does. The first black leader of the US is also the first American president who has lived in Asia as a child - the first president with an "Asia-Pacific orientation", as US officials put it. President Obama will try to capitalise on this during his week-long trip to the region. He wants to build on and improve crucial relationships with allies and rivals across the Pacific.
- Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell said bringing the suspects from Guantanamo into the US would put "Americans unnecessarily at risk". //The five will be tried in a civilian court near Ground Zero. The prosecution says it will seek the death penalty. //Democrats hailed the decision, while families of 9/11 victims are divided. //The move is part of US President Barack Obama's efforts to close the Guantanamo detention centre for terror suspects. //

- The recommended daily intake of calories

could be increased by up to 16%, a draft report by the Scientific Advisory Committee on Nutrition said. //Intake levels are currently 2,000 calories for women and 2,500 for men. // But the panel stresses that people should only eat more if they exercise more, given rising levels of obesity. // A 16% increase would mean that adults could safely consume an extra 400 calories a day, equivalent to an average sized cheeseburger.

- The world number two came through 7-5 7-5 against the defending champion. //Tsonga needed to win the title to stop Verdasco qualifying for the season-ending event in London for the first time in his career. //Earlier, Novak Djokovic ended Robin Soderling's chances of overtaking Verdasco with a 6-4 1-6 6-3 win.

Now the summary of the main news:

- Obama confirms commitment to Asia. During his trip to Asia Mr Obama will be tackling a broad range of issues - like global trade, China's currency and US debt.
- Republican leaders criticise the move of Barack Obama to try the Guantanamo prisoners on the American soil.

That's all from me for the moment. Good evening to you.
