Adorno & Horkheimer

- Movies and radio need no longer pretend to be art, The truth that they are just business is made into an ideology
- Interested parties explain the culture industry in technological terms...No mention is made of the fact that the basis on which technology acquires power over society is greatest.
- Use value -> Exchange Value
- Genuine' or 'autonomous' art VS the products of the culture industry (Standardization)

- Art can provide an alternate vision of reality
- The radical character of autonomous art stems not from its content but from its form
- Culture Industry The triumph of instrumental reason over the role of culture
- Standardized art does nothing to stimulate critical social reflection. Rather, it creates standardized responses.
- Extinguishing the revolutionary potential of the masses, by providing relief from the stresses of life under capitalism through brief and surface level distractions
- Culture Industry cements its audience to the status quo, and transforms culture itself into an ideological medium of domination
