*Includes activity from January 1 of the pre-election year through March 31 of the election year. Contribution limits are indexed for inflation every cycle. The totals in the 2016 row may differ slightly from the sum of the numbers in the two subsequent paragraphs as the numbers have been rounded. The number of candidates reflects the number of candidate committees that filed reports with financial activity in a given election cycle.

The 165 candidates running for Senate in 2016 reported total receipts of $274.2 million, disbursements of $130.5 million, debts of $15.9 million and cash-on-hand of $241.1 million.

The 1,188 candidates running for the House of Representatives in 2015-2016 reported combined total receipts of $522.7 million, disbursements of $293.1 million, debts of $53.4 million and cash-on-hand of $408.4 million. In addition to the 2016 primary and general elections, these numbers encompass financial activity associated with the 2015 special elections for Illinois's 18th Congressional District, Mississippi's 1st Congressional District and New York's 11th Congressional District, as well as the 2016 special election for Ohio's 8th Congressional District.

Data summary tables for reports submitted to the Commission through March 31, 2016 by 2015 and 2016 congressional candidate committees can be found here.

III. Political Party Committees

National, state and local political party committees reported combined total receipts of $647.1 million in federal funds, disbursements of $492.6 million, debts of $17.8 million, and cash-on-hand of $179 million as of March 31, 2016. Of those totals, party committees other than the two major political parties reported receipts of $2.8 million, disbursements of $2.5 million, debts of $65,518, and a combined cash-on-hand of $796,918 as of March 31, 2016. (See the footnote in the following table for a list of these other party committees.)

The following table summarizes 2015-2016 campaign finance activity of the Democratic National Committee (DNC), Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee (DSCC), Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (DCCC), Republican National Committee (RNC), National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC) and National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC), as well as each party's state and local committees and other party committees.

*The totals in this line may not equal the sum of the numbers in the corresponding columns as the receipts and disbursements have been adjusted to account for transfers between party committees and the numbers have been rounded.

 Other party committees include the Libertarian National Committee, Libertarian National Congressional Committee, Green Party of the United States, Green Senatorial Campaign Committee, Constitution Party National Committee, and the Reform Party of the United States of America.

Individuals, for whom contributions to national parties are limited to $33,400 per year this election cycle, were the largest source of federal funds for party committees' traditional accounts. Democratic and Republican party committees reported receiving $217.6 million and $202.8 million, respectively, from individuals. PACs and other political committees contributed $37.2 million to Democratic party committees and $47.7 million to Republican party committees as of March 31, 2016.

Democratic and Republican House campaign committees transferred $15 million and $21.3 million, respectively, from their campaign accounts to their national congressional party committees. Committees representing Democratic Senate candidates transferred $716,000 to the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee. Committees representing Republican Senate candidates transferred $115,000 to the National Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Provisions of the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015 (H.R. 83), signed into law in December 2014, enable national party committees to establish accounts to defray certain expenses incurred with respect to Presidential nominating conventions, national party headquarters buildings, and election recounts and contests and other legal proceedings.

The resulting new accounts of national party committees reported receiving $59.9 million between January 1, 2015 and March 31, 2016. Of that total, the three new Democratic national party committee accounts received $14.9 million, while the corresponding Republican national party committee accounts received $45 million. New accounts established by other national political parties reported receiving $20,508.

Headquarters accounts reported the highest receipt total across all the newly established national party committee accounts: $34 million. New convention and recount accounts raised $10.7 million and $15.1 million, respectively, through March 31, 2016.

Data summary tables for reports submitted by political party committees to the Commission through March 31, 2016 can be found here.

IV. Political Action Committees (PACs)

Based on reports filed with the Commission from January 1, 2015, through March 31, 2016, 7,774 federal PACs reported total receipts of $1.9 billion, disbursements of $1.6 billion, debts of $23.7 million, and combined cash-on-hand of $800.8 million.

The following table summarizes campaign finance activity of PACs based on PAC type in 2015-2016. This table includes both separate segregated funds (SSFs), which have connected organizations such as corporations or labor organizations that establish, administer or raise money on their behalf, and nonconnected committees.

Total SSF and Nonconnected PAC Activity	7,774	$1,944.2	$1,631.5	$23.7	$800.8

*Nonconnected committees include Independent Expenditure-Only Political Committees, Committees with Non-Contribution Accounts and Leadership PACs. Independent Expenditure-Only Political Committees are committees that may receive unlimited contributions from individuals, corporations, and labor organizations for the purpose of financing independent expenditures and other independent political activity. Committees with Non-Contribution Accounts solicit and accept unlimited contributions from individuals, corporations, labor organizations, and other political committees to a segregated bank account for the same purposes as Independent Expenditure-Only Political Committees, while maintaining a separate bank account -- subject to all of the statutory amount limitations and source prohibitions -- that is permitted to make contributions to federal candidates. The data above includes receipts and disbursements from both bank accounts of Committees with Non-Contribution Accounts. Leadership PACs are political committees that are directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained or controlled by a candidate or an individual holding federal office, but are neither authorized committees of the candidate or officeholder nor affiliated with an authorized committee of a candidate or officeholder. Like other multicandidate PACs, a leadership PAC may contribute up to $5,000 per election to a federal candidate committee.

The totals in this line may not equal the sum of the numbers in the corresponding columns as these numbers have been rounded. Instead, the bottom-line totals correspond to PAC Table 1.

Contributions by PACs to presidential and congressional candidates seeking office in the 2015-2016 election cycle totaled $1.6 million and $249.8 million, respectively, as of March 31, 2016. PAC contributions to Senate and House candidates totaled $53.2 million and $196.6 million, respectively. Independent Expenditure-Only Political Committees are prohibited from making contributions to candidates.

Data summary tables for reports submitted by PACs to the Commission through March 31, 2016 can be found here.

V. Independent Expenditures

Independent expenditures reported to the Commission through March 31, 2016 in connection with presidential and congressional elections in the 2015-2016 election cycle totaled $310.5 million.* Independent Expenditure-Only Political Committees accounted for $275.6 million of all independent expenditures disclosed to the Commission, Committees with Non-Contribution Accounts reported $4.4 million, and other PACs reported $7.1 million. Independent expenditures made by persons other than political committees totaled $23 million, and party committees reported independent expenditures totaling $412,097.

Data summary tables for independent expenditure filings submitted to the Commission through March 31, 2016 can be found here.

*A political committee must itemize its payments for independent expenditures once the calendar-year total paid to a vendor or other person exceeds $200 with respect to a particular election. Any other person (individual, partnership or group of individuals) must file a report with the FEC at the end of the first reporting period in which independent expenditures with respect to a given election aggregate more than $250 in a calendar year and in any succeeding period during the same year in which additional independent expenditures of any amount are made.

VI. Electioneering Communications

Electioneering communication filings totaling $838,979 were reported to the Commission in connection with activity in the 2015-2016 election cycle. An electioneering communication is a broadcast, cable or satellite communication that refers to a clearly identified federal candidate and is distributed within 30 days prior to a primary election or within 60 days prior to a general election. These communications do not expressly advocate the election or defeat of a federal candidate.

The data summary table for electioneering communication filings submitted to the Commission through March 31, 2016 can be found here.

VII. Communication Costs

A provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the Act), allows corporations and labor organizations to communicate to a “restricted class” of individuals on any subject, including express advocacy of the election or defeat of any Federal candidate. The costs of such communications must be reported to the Commission when the cost exceeds $2,000 per election. This provision of the Act pre-dates the Supreme Court decision in Citizens United v. FEC, which struck down the ban on independent expenditures and electioneering communications financed by the general treasuries of corporations and labor unions.

The Commission received 20 such filings during the reporting period, disclosing spending of $5.3 million in costs for communications to organizations' restricted class between January 1, 2015, and March 31, 2016.

The data summary table for communication cost filings submitted to the Commission through March 31, 2016 can be found here.
