(MIDDLE EAST & NORTH AFRICA REGION)

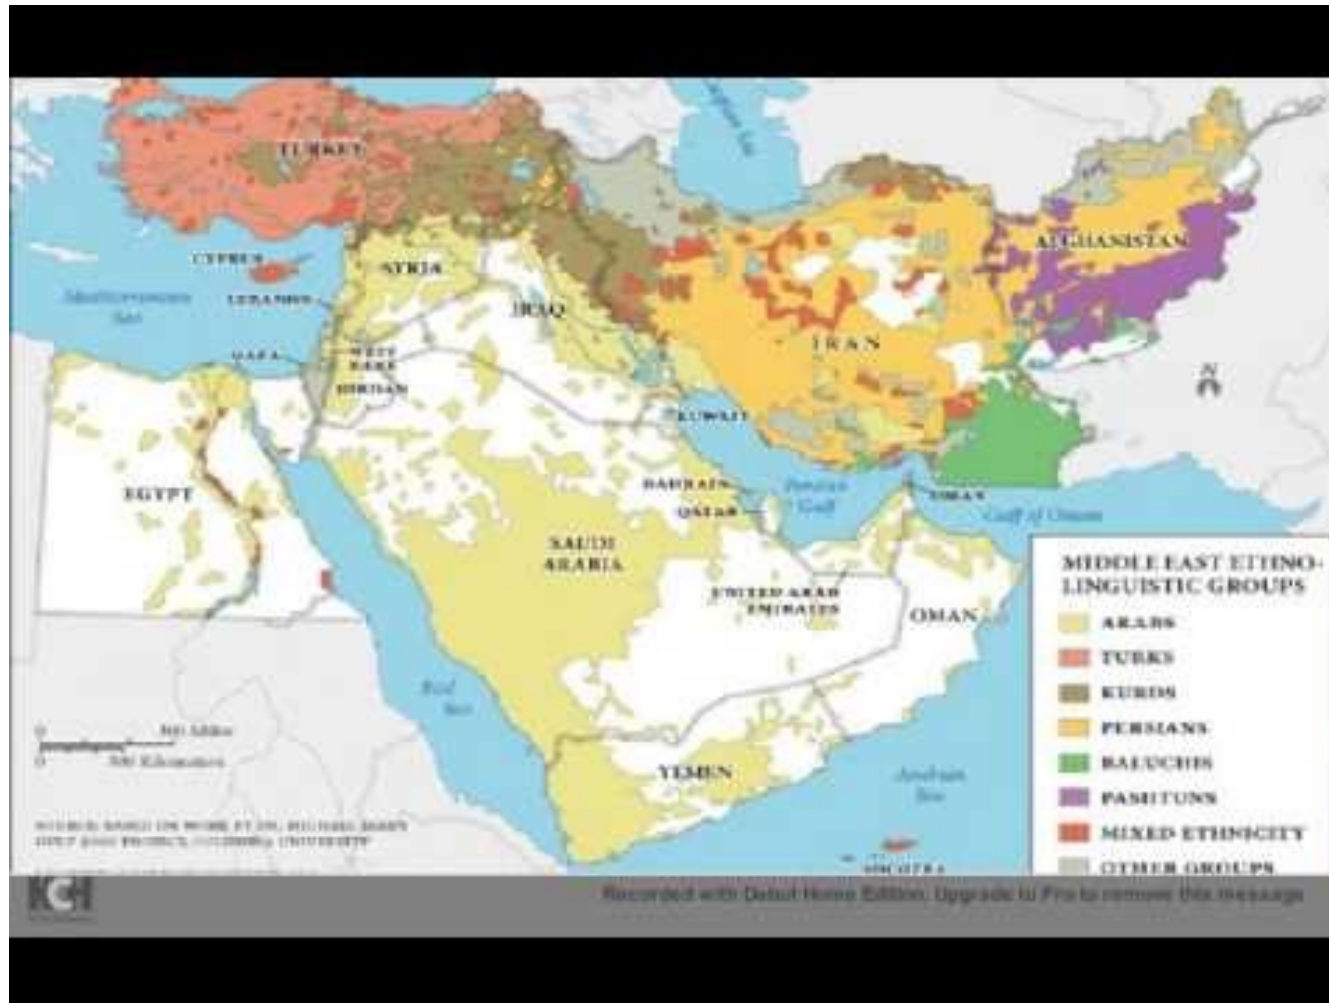

BASIC TERMINOLOGY

- No consensus about the terminology.
- Historically, Near East referred to the territory of whole Ottoman Empire while Middle East was used for the whole region of Arab peninsula, Afghanistan + the countries of southern and central Asia.
- Orient – a label for countries of Near, Middle and Far East – today quite negative connotations (book „Orientalism“ by Edward Said from 1978).
- The Levant – eastern Mediterranean (Israel/Palestine, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, northern Iraq).
- Nowadays the prevailing definition says that "it is a region located on the border between southwest Asia, northern Africa, and Europe".
- The terms Near and Middle East are usually used simultaneously.
- The unifying factors: similar historical development, religion, culture, language.
