1. worksheet- instead of the 5 tasks that are done by in the regular classes, combined students should submit a 1-2 page WORKSHEET that they will create using information or interesting reading about presentation skills (you can use the books on presentation skills in the IS- learning materials or it may be from the internet). This will be worth 30 points and will include:
 - a. a short reading text (about 250 words) with about 5 comprehension questions (about main ideas and/or details from the text) and some discussion questions (about follow-up ideas that could be implied or inspired by the text)
 - b. a short listening (4-6 minute long audio or video, may be from the internet, for example a TED talk on youtube about presenting or public speaking) with about 5 comprehension questions and some discussion questions.

The materials should be targeted at upper-intermediate (B2 level) students of social sciences. Your worksheets can be submitted at any point, but by the end of the term (i.e. before the start of the exam period) at the latest – please email it to me.

2. position paper: word limit 500-600 words, based on source material (journal article or a chapter from a book) related to your field of studies. Note: the source material must be also uploaded in the appropriate homework vault (odevzdavarna). The paper consists of a summary of the source material and your argumentation with the original. Deadline: two days before your final presentation
3. final presentation: 8-10 minute presentation on the material you write about in your position paper. It will be given in groups of 5-6 students and you need to sign up for it in the IS. The presentation assessment criteria are described in the learning materials in the IS.
4. final abstract: word limit 150-250 words, abstract to your presentation. Bring it printed out to your presentation date.
5. summary of a lecture (listening): taken in the exam period (there will be a special date for it, sign up for it). You will listen to a video (audio) of a part of a lecture and then write its summary (approximately 150 words).
6. NOTE: parts 2-5 are the same for both regular and combined type of studies
