Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

-1972 E.U. Summit meeting, Paris:

the Member states “attached as much importance to vigorous action in the social field as to achievement of economic union”

- Led to creation of European Regional Development Fund and reform of Structural Funds.

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U. Lecture 1

1974 Social Action Programme

- the aim of which was “to draw up a coherent policy setting out the initial practical steps on the road towards the ultimate goal of European Social Union”.

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

Changes in the early 1980s allowing for the revival of the E.U. integration project and social policy:

1. Abandonment of nationalistic (anti-EU integration) economic policies;
2. Growing acceptance of increased marketisation of society in EU
3. Success of European Commission, headed in 1985 by Jacques Delors

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

Revival of European integration project through 2 major documents:

1. 1985 White Paper on the completion of the internal market;
2. 1986 Single European Act
 - ‘subsidiarity’
 - change in social policy strategy from ‘harmonisation’ to ‘mutual recognition’

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

Reasons Social policy stronger and more prominent in E.U. by 1990s:

1. E.U. could no longer be ignored;
2. Internal E.U. institutional changes;
3. A supportive (on social policy) E.U. Commission + role of Jacques Delors
4. Development and growth of NGOs
5. Change in position of trade unions and 'leftist' political parties in E.U. states
6. Three new Member states in 1994 – Austria, Finland, Sweden – had social policy traditions

Contemporary Social Policy in the E.U.

Lecture 1

“The social dimension permeates all our discussions and everything we do ... Think what a boost it would be for democracy and social justice if we could demonstrate that we are capable of working together to create a better integrated society open to all”

(Jacques Delors, October 1989)
