

The Miniconference – Day 2

The Miniconference of seminar group 01 took place on Thursday 18th April 2013 in Room 208 at the Faculty of Law, Masaryk University, Brno. Everybody was registered on arrival and endowed with program, information of presentations and paper for writing notes for presenters.

The first presentation was called "Positive discrimination as a lawful measure". The presentation included definition of discrimination, legal aspect, equality, positive discrimination and interesting cases in the USA. The presentation was interesting and educational and we learned new information. We asked classmates on their opinion and one of them said that the presentation contained long and complicated definitions but the presenters had good speech and eye contact.

The next topic of presentation was called "Women's rights in Saudi Arabia". This presentation was really interesting and I'm sure that not only for me. The presenters were well prepared. Students from audience appreciated that the presenters didn't read from their notices. It included basic facts, guardianship, the rights which are focused on gender parity and explanation the differences between laws for women in Czech Republic and those in Saudi Arabia.

After discussion and feedback we were acquainted with presentation which was called "European Commission". They talked about concepts like European Union, European Commission and formation, commissioners and other basic and important concepts and composition of the Commission, responsibility to European Parliament, Information about commissioner, number of commissioners, appointment and their work. At the end of presentation was prepared quiz which was good for remembering key facts. Students appreciated a lot of information.

At the end of the mini-conference was announced and awarded the best presentation which was called "Women's rights in Saudi Arabia".
