- Services in legal context

What is a service?

- Any act or performance that one party can offer to another that is essentially intangible and does not result in the ownership of anything. Its production may or may not be tied to a physical product (Kotler, 1987).
- Service-based business x product-based business.

Service x product

Some examples of services

- Accounting
- Advertising
- Banking and financial services
- Communications
- Consulting
- Education and training
- Health care
- Leasing
- Legal services
- Maintenance and repair
- Management and catering
- Publishing
- Transportation

Why is it important?

- Services play an important role in today's world of business – we live in a service economy.
- Services sector is the largest sector in the world.
- Today, over two-thirds of GDP and four-fifths of employment in the OECD countries are in the services sector.

Task 1

- Find a (successful) example from your country.
- Prepare a short description of the company and its services.
- What makes it special? Why do you like it?
- Is there anything you do not like?
- Do you have any recommendations for improvement?
- How would you describe the marketing strategy of this company?

Services marketing

- Internal marketing
 - Enabling the promise
 - Vertical & horizontal communications
- External marketing
 - Setting the promise
 - Advertising, sales promotion, direct marketing, public relations
- Interactive marketing
 - Delivering the promise
 - Personal selling, customer service center, service encounters, servicescapes

Services Marketing Triangle

Customer service

- Everything what a company does for satisfaction of its customers.
- Helps to gain higher profit from sold products.
- Customer services can be also an important competitive advantage.
- Why customer service matters:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nxtaMdu55Ug>

Customer service

- May be provided by a person or by automated means.
- Understanding of customers' needs and wishes.
- Influences emotional experiences from purchase and helps to increase the satisfaction of customers.
- Generates income and revenue.

Customer service

- Takes place before, during and after the purchase.
- Examples of customer services:
 - Providing sufficient information about the company and its products
 - Payment options
 - Transport and packaging of products according to customers' preferences
 - Maintenance services
 - Free phone connection
 - Online helpdesk
 - Others

Customer service

– How to offer it:

1. Know your product (do not leave a customer with an unanswered question).
2. Body language/communication (smile, keep an eye contact, be polite).
3. Anticipate customers' needs (go the extra mile).

Task 2

- Think about any kind of service that can be provided in addition to standard legal services.
- Try to find a legal office from your country which in your opinion provides good (accompanying) services.
