Rules of hygiene and prevention at practical training

During the practical training at the department, students must always wear white clothes, name-tags and follow these requirements:

- use clean personal protective equipment
- before patient examination, students must wash their hands. In the operating rooms and at the ward, jewellery, watches and artificial nails are not allowed
- hands must be disinfected after every medical procedure and manipulation with biological materials or laundry
- during surgical procedures, the operating medical staff must wear personal protective equipment: sterile gown, disposable cap and face mask, sterile gloves and shoes.
- eating and drinking is permitted only in dedicated places (i.e. dining room, day room, kitchen)
