

Pieces of writing valued as works of art (plays, novels, poems)

Another way how to show your ideas and opinions, how to enlarge our vocabulary and another way of perception (seeing things from other people's view)

Life expressed by words

A way how to share (feelings, experiences, impressions)

Art which gives us written information

Art connected with writing and language (litera = letter, litera skripta manet = what was written matters), people's thoughts, feelings, or facts, recorded in writing „Life put on paper“ – everything that has happened or might have happened, all our thoughts, ideas ...

Part of culture which is written and can be handed down to others

Art, word formative of word, carries information, ideas which feed our souls

A source of other people's thoughts and a good opportunity to learn something and feed our souls. A means of connecting people (writer and reader).

Words put together in an artistic way, part of culture of a nation

Everything written?

The way to get to know history, can refer to past, present and future

Written art, something that enlightens the reader or forces them to challenge their own perceptions and value system

Written form of culture of a nation including traditional values, history, art and ideas to be preserved for future generations.

Any written or spoken material, usually creative, includes poetry, drama, fiction and many kinds of non-fiction writing, part of culture

Everything that has ever been written

Any text with meaning, the body of texts of a specific culture

All written texts

Everything written by a creative nation, epoch, mankind, expressed in a formal language (but not always)

Communication between the leader and the autor, using words, transmits information, ideas, experience

Any written material, creative works of recognized artistic value

A complex collection of texts fixed in letters