

This is how I want to live

My name _____

Who thought about housing matters with me

When were these things discussed _____

This form was made for you,
who wants to plan your living arrangements.
The form will help you explain
how you want to live now or in the future.
You can decide for yourself where you live.

The decision is not always an easy one,
but it must be made based on your own wishes.
It is important that you get information about different opportunities regarding housing,
so you can make an informed decision.

When you plan your living arrangements,
you may need time and support from someone.
When that happens, ask for help from the people who are important to you.
