OPENING (Introduction & Outline¹¹)

The introduction and outline must be designed to gain the interest of the audience. If they are poorly prepared, the audience may lose interest. A well planned introduction will "...set an objective framework in which the audience will accept the information as accurate and as significant." (Laster & Picke^{tt} 1996:442)

Task 4

Which of the items on the checklist¹² below would you include in an introduction to:

- a) an internal presentation to colleagues?
- b) an external presentation to a public audience?
- c) both of the above
- d) neither of the above

CHECKLIST:

- 1 The main parts or points you will cover
- 2 Any visuals you will use
- 3 Your name and position
- 4 The length of time you will take
- 5 The purpose of your presentation
- 6 When the audience may ask questions
- 7 The title/subject of your presentation

Task 5

Look at this introduction to a presentation. Some of the words and phrases are not formal enough for this type of presentation. Underline the informal language.

Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. Thank you for coming. Today you'll find things out about the structure and running of Masaryk University. I've broken up my presentation into a few bits: to kick off we'll deal with the various schools and faculties, then we'll take a look at the different courses and stuff like that, and lastly we'll look at the day-to-day running of the whole place. You'll get a chance to ask questions and discuss issues at the end of my talk, but shout out if there's anything you don't get.

Can you think of a more suitable word or phrase to replace the informal language?

VISUALS AND AIDS

Task 6 – Choose the best answer.

1. Using overhead transparencies¹⁴ is a good practice, because _____.
 - a) it reduces¹⁵ the time required to prepare for the lecture

 - a) distract the audience
 - b) help the audience to focus
 - c) wake the audience up
 - d) provide an extra dimension of information

3. Optimally, the showing of special objects during a presentation _____.
 - a) distracts¹⁸ the audience from what is being said
 - b) helps listeners to understand what the lecturer is talking about
 - c) can significantly slow down the lecture
 - d) All of the above

4. The clothing that the presenter is wearing _____.
 - a) is not an important issue, unless the lecture is fashion related
 - b) is important because a formally dressed lecturer is more credible¹⁹
 - c) should be considered and chosen to be appropriate²⁰ to the particular audience
 - d) should be comfortable and not too colourful

5. Handouts are important because _____.
 - a) they help the audience understand the main idea
 - b) they serve as a basic reference
 - c) they are useful for writing comments and notes on
 - d) All of the above
