

Unit 6 - Modal Verbs (Exercise 2)

Match the statements to the situation.

- A. It can't have been John at the door.
- B. It can't be John at the door.
- C. It couldn't have been John at the door.
- D. It couldn't be John at the door.

(You are in Brno. / You were too late answering a knock at the door.)

- 1. There is a knock at the door. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 2. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.
- 3. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 4. There is a knock at the door. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.

Unit 6 - Modal Verbs (Exercise 2)

Match the statements to the situation.

- A. It can't have been John at the door.
- B. It can't be John at the door.
- C. It couldn't have been John at the door.
- D. It couldn't be John at the door.

(You are in Brno / You were too late answering a knock at the door.)

- 1. There is a knock at the door. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 2. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.
- 3. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 4. There is a knock at the door. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.

Unit 6 - Modal Verbs (Exercise 2)

Match the statements to the situation.

- A. It can't have been John at the door.
- B. It can't be John at the door.
- C. It couldn't have been John at the door.
- D. It couldn't be John at the door.

(You are in Brno. / You were too late answering a knock at the door.)

- 1. There is a knock at the door. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 2. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.
- 3. There was a knock at the door half an hour ago. / Someone told you that John is on holiday in Thailand.
- 4. There is a knock at the door. / John called you from his hotel room in Thailand this morning.