What People Have Said about Tourism

- 1 Travel is more than the seeing of sights*; it is a change that goes on, deep and permanent*, in the ideas of living. Miriam Beard (American travel writer, 1901-)
- 2 Take only memories. Leave nothing but footprints. Chief Seattle (American Indian chief, 1786 -1866)
- 3 Young men should travel, if but to amuse themselves. Lord Byron (English Romantic poet, 1788-1824)
- 4 A good traveller is one who does not know where he is going to; a perfect traveller does not know where he came from. Lin Yutang (Chinese philosopher, 1895-1976)
- 5 I dislike feeling at home when I am abroad. George Bernard Shaw (Irish playwright, 1856-1950)
- 6 To lie about a faraway country is easy. Amharic Proverb
- 7 Travelling, like all forms of consumption*, is not a neutral activity. Everything we do affects other people; everything we own is taken from someone else. If you can't travel carefully, don't travel at all. George Monbiot (Guardian journalist and author, 1963-)

Reading

Prediction

Task 1: In groups, brainstorm any negative effects that tourism might have, giving specific examples from your own country if possible.

"Ecotourism is responsible travel to natural areas that conserves the environment and sustains the well being of local people".

(The International Ecotourism Society)

Task 2: What do you think a good ecotourist should/ shouldn't do? Example: Ecotourists should never leave behind any rubbish.

Discussion Questions

- 1. Do you believe that all travel 'broadens* the mind'? How?
- 2. Do you think that more world peace would be possible if more people travelled?
- 3. Had you heard of ecotourism before? How would you define it?
- 4. Is the travel industry a clean and positive form of development for poor countries?

Reading for gist

One of the more noticeable (19) of tourism on the people is that you see children plat school to act as "guides" for the tourists. Local shopkeepers pay them to grab tourists and pull them (20), many of the souvenirs they buy are not made locally at all. They're imported from and Hong Kong. The Fijians used to be known for their friendliness and hospitality. This is something when I was there before, but now you're beginning to see a sullenness creep into their character . Petthe (21) and "friendly Fiji", as advertised in the holiday brochures, is no longer so appy Yeah, these slogans have devalued a complex situation. Presenter: I see, They do say that travel broadens the mind. Is that your experience?
Tony: Quite the opposite, I'd say. Every international hotel looks very much like another. There are no local styles, and the services they offer are (24) too. In fact, if you look at the visitors in those hotels, they're all starting to look alike! They dress the same and behave the same. They talk about the same things, they (25) the same opinions, they eat the same food, drink the same drinks. They never learn a word of the local language or find out about the local (26) – apart from the folklore evenings laid on for them at the hotels. They find themselves buying the same Hong Kong-made souvenirs all over the world.
But what is saddest of all is that they are totally (27) of the local people and their aspiproblems, and their interests. The only local people they speak to are waiters, shopkeepers, chamber Tourism, in fact, is not conducive to mutual understanding . In some cases it even gives rise to (28)_contempt, I think. Presenter: I see. So, how do you see the future of Fiji?
Tony: Well, (30) what I've said, I'm optimistic. Fiji can't revert to how it was in the past to ask. You can't put the clock back. But the (31) on Fiji is no longer an essential refurange jets cross the Pacific non-stop now, which means that the tourists who go to Fiji now aren't pestopping over for a night or two, but people who have chosen to stay there for one or two weeks, or doesn't depend too (32) on tourism for its income.
