

The only one flower in the world

Lyrics, composition, arrangement/
Noriyuki Makihara

I looked at the various flowers Lined up at the front of the florist
Everyone has their own favorite
But they' re all beautiful
You don' t need to argue
Which is the best one of them all
They' re all in their buckets
Standing tall and proud

Yet I wonder why we humans
Feel the need to compare
Even though we' re all different
Do we all want to be number one?

That' s right, we are...

*The only flower of our kind in this world
Everyone has their own unique seeds
We should just try our best
To make those flowers bloom

There' s someone smiling like they' re confused
As they struggle over which one to buy
All the flowers that have struggled to bloom
Are pretty so it seems there' s no choice
That person finally exited the store
Carrying a bouquet
Of flowers in various colors
And had a happy look on their face

I didn' t know their name
But they put a smile on my face that day
Like a flower that bloomed
Where no one ever noticed

That' s right, we are also...

(Repeat*)

Small flowers and big flowers
Each one is unique
You don' t need to be No.1
You' ve always been the only one
