

CJVALI - spring 2020

Course requirements

In order to finish the course successfully, you should:

a) be active and present during our seminars (2 absences are allowed)

b) submit an essay

c) give a presentation

- possible topics - anything connected to literature - a movement, a writer, a book

d) take part in a group project – creating infographic/poster

Important announcement

As there were not enough students in this CJVALI course, this course had to be merged with one of the CJVA2B seminar groups.

Please follow the interactive syllabus that's called "Kateřina Svídová's seminar groups". We are going to use it instead of this one.

Also, since you will be given 2 credits and just a "zápočet", there will be no exam tasks for you. All you will have to do during the semester will be to give a presentation, take a part in a group project and write an essay. All other tasks mentioned in the "KS seminar groups" interactive syllabus are purely optional for you.

Since you are still students of the CJVALI, you don't have to necessarily create a presentation about something from your field of study. It can be something purely literary.
